WILEY POST HOPS ON WORLD FLIGHT

Steel Code Proposes 15 Per Cent Increase For Workers

ROBOT AIDING GLOBE CIRCLER STEER PLANE

Berlin First Goal of Co-Holder of Round-the-World Record Now Seeking Solo Mark—U. S. Army Provides Plane With Secret Radio Compass for Flight.

TORBAY, N. F., July 15—(AP)—Wiley Post, American round-the-world flier, passed seaward from here on his flight toward Europe.

Post's airplane passed today at 3:40 p. m., Newfoundland daylight time (12:10 p. m., Lincoln time) and headed out over the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Wiley Post, 35-year-old Oklahoman, took off from Floyd Bennett field at 3:10 a. m. (Lincoln time) and headed out over the Atlantic ocean on his attempt to fly alone around the world

He was flying the white and purple Lockheed monoplane Winnie Mae in which he and Harold Gatty made their 'round-the-world record of 8 days, 15 hours, 51 minutes in 1931. This time he hopes to do it faster.

"I'll be back as quick as possible," he shouted

Only two bad spots of weather were reported ahead of him on the first leg of his trip, the 3,900 miles to Berlin. There was a low pressure area off the Atlantic coast near New York, which he intended to fly around, and rain off the coast of Ireland, which he plans to fly through.

Aided By Robot.

The heavily loaded Winnie Mae ran the length of the runway before she got into the air. Post bounced the ship once trying to get it off the ground, but when it finally did rise he gained altitude rapidly and headed straight into a clear red sunrsie.

He expected the Winnie Mae's cruising speed of 170 miles an hour to be increased at least 25 miles by a strong supporting west wind. The airplane has a top speed of 210 miles an hour.

Although Post flies alone, he will have the aid of a robot assistant pilot, a mechanical apparatus designed to keep the plane on its course and maintain its altitude and lateral stability without human aid. Post says it will permit him to doze when flying a straight

Roosevelt Breaks Cruise For Motor Trip in Maryland

CRISFIELD, Md., July 15—(AP)—President Roosevelt interrupted his cruise of the Chesapeake bay to land at Crisfield early this afternoon for a motor trip on Maryland's picturesque eastern shore.

How long he planned to remain on land was not made public.

Two white house automobiles were waiting at the pier and as soon as the yacht Sequoia was tied up the president and his party disembarked and were driven up Crisfield's main street and on a highway leading north.

The route taken by the president would take him either to Salisbury, Md., or Ocean City, Md. Many automobiles followed his car.

Eighteen counties of Nebraska have made written application thus far to the state committee handling emergency federal relief funds for cash allotments to take care of their indigent populations. Some of these requests are not accompanied with the requisite data which federal regulations call for, and they have been returned for amplification.

The counties heard from to date are Adams, Antelope, Box Butte, Cahs, Dakota, Dodge, Dundy, Greeley, Hitchcock, Holt, Howard, Lancaster, Lincoln, Nance, Otoe, Saline, Wayne, and York. In addition, county officials of Gage and Douglas have been here to see about getting federal money, and their formal applications will come in soon.

The industrial recovery act will also be discussed tonight.

Young Fairbanks Sails

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, jr., still weak from a recent attack of pneumonia, sailed on the Berengaria today to join his father in London. He was accompanied to the ship by his mother, Mrs. Jack Whiting.

Young Fairbanks said that because of his illness he did not think he would be able to start any new picture work for about three months. In the meantime, he said, he would "look after" his father.

Seven Postal Workers In Service 30 Years Get Retirement Reprieve

The Lincoln postoffice received a virtual "reprieve" Saturday in the form of an Associated Press dispatch from Washington reporting that the postoffice department has decided not to retire able phodied emloyes with 30 years service, as authorized by the last congress.

If the rule had been applied, at least four of the important supervisors and five other veteran employes in the local office would have been forced to retire. The shakeup might have created a serious problem in reorganization, it was revealed.

Topping the list of the 30 or more years service employes in the Lincoln postoffice is E. G. Bivins, superintendent of mails, whose postal employment dates back to January 30, 1894. The assistant superintendent of mails, Charles W. Frost, reaches the 30 year mark on August 15.

Six others besides Bivins have already passed thirty years of service They are John E. Heelan, foreman of carriers, who started work for the postoffice August 1, 1894; Paul E. Cook, superintendent of the University Place station, July 2, 1900; Mary Dailey, mail order clerk, May 1, 1894; Douthitt L. Bishop, general delivery clerk, June 20, 1899; Walter W Hudson, carrier December 5, 1894, and Rose Gilmore, general delivery clerk, January 5, 1893.

Besides Mr. Frost, Frank F. Johnson, a letter carrier, will also attain 30 years service this year, on December 1

Of the group only one is ready to take a rest. He is Walter Hudson who can exercise the retirement option on December 1, when he becomes 63 years old.

PAIR HOPS FROM NEW YORK BOUND FOR LITHUANIA

Non-Stop Flight is Begun Without Approval of Washington.

CLARENVILLE TRINITY BAY, N. F. July 15—(AP)—An airplane believed to be that piloted by Capt. Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas, bound for Lithuania, passed over here at 12:45 p. m., Lincoln time, today.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—The monoplane Lithuanica took off on a projected 4,900 mile non-stop flight to Lithuania today, without approval of the American government and with the prospect of the two pilots subjecting themselves to a "spanking" if they should land in any country short of their goal.

The plane, which left Floyd Bennett field at 4:24 a. m., Lincoln time, was flown by Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas, Lithuanian-Americans from Chicago.

They took off just an hour and 14 minutes after Wiley Post had begun his solo world flight from the same field.

Argue With Washington.

Darius and Girenas have been in altercation with official Washington about permits to fly over countries between America and Lithuani and left without obtaining these permits. The argument had centered about the question of who should pay $100 for cost of cables to the countries in question.

The fliers took off without informing field officials of their intention and a commerce depart-

RODNEY BLISS GETS BIG LEAD

Champion Holds Eight Up Advantage Over Zadalis.

OMAHA, July 15—(AP)—Young Rodney Bliss pulled away from Matt Zadalis in the forenoon half of the 36-hole state golf tournament finals match today like Man-O-War racing a colt, holding an eight up advantage as they went to lunch.

The difference between sub-par golf and an indifferent round of 80 gave the defending champion his wide margin over the public links player.

Bliss, recent finalist in the national intercollegiate meet, shot a 69, three under perfect figures. His putting was sensational all the time. He picked up five birdies on the round and found only two traps.

Zadalis won but two holes. One was the twelfth, when he laid Bliss a dead stymie. The other was the third when two great shots to the green brought a birdie four.

Rodney was three up at the turn and then picked up five more on

ITALIAN ARMADA SPEEDS TOWARD CHICAGO GOAL

Balbo Leads Squadron on Final Lap of Long Air Journey.

DETROIT, July 15—(AP) — The leading planes of the Italian aerial armada, enroute from Orbitello, Italy, to Chicago, arrived over Detroit at 2:15 p. m., Lincoln time, today There were 12 planes in the leading group A few minutes earlier six more of the 24 planes were reported over Port Huron, Mich

PORT HURON, Mich., July 15—(AP)—Twelve of General Italo Balbo's 24 seaplanes passed over this city at 1:50 p. m., Lincoln time today, head apparently for Detroit.

MONTREAL, July 15—(AP)—Off for Chicago and a Century of Progress exposition that they have come all the way from Italy to visit, 24 Italian twin-engined flying boats took off from the St. Lawrence river in Montreal harbor today and headed west for the Great Lakes.

Gen. Italo Balbo, Italy's 36-year-old minister of aviation, led his airmen out of Montreal, lifting his big flagship off the water at 9:14 a. m., Lincoln time, while steamboat sirens blared a farewell.

The planes took off in groups of three, spaced a few moments apart. As each triad got into the air, another three cast loose from their moorings, taxied downstream, turned into the wind and roared over the surface in a smother of foam to rise smoothly into the air.

They were all off the water and away for Chicago at 10:09 a. m.

Envoy a Passenger.

In the flagship as a passenger was Augusto Rosso, Italian ambassador at Washington, who hurried to Montreal to make the trip.

The course chosen for the flight today would take the planes near Prescott, Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catherines, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, thence to Port Rowan, Rondeau and Kingsville in Ontario again.

After Kingsville the armada would continue on to Toledo. Beyond the Ohio port the course of the seaplanes would probably be over Angola, LaGrange, Elkhart, South Bend, Hammond and then Chicago.

RAIL VALUATIONS CUT $37,000,000

Smith Completes List Of Minor Carriers For Taxation.

Nebraska railroads will pay taxes this year on a gross valuation more than $37,000,000 less than in 1932, saving them the estimated sum of $666 000 in contributions for governmental purposes to the state and its subdivisions.

The combined assessment of the 17 railroads operating within Nebraska has been fixed by the state board for the current year at $183,581,655, as compared with $220,957,282 a year ago. This is a decrease of $37,375,627, or 16.91 per cent.

Complete Tabulations.

Valuations of five principal carriers were announced by State Tax Commissioner Smith several days ago, representing all but $10,000,000

Herdman Recovering, Able Sit Up Daily

State Insurance Director Lee Herdman, who has been in an Omaha hospital for nearly two months, is recuperating nicely, according to the last reports of his condition. He is permitted to sit up several hours each day, but not to receive visitors. Mr. Herdman has been a sufferer with heart trouble for several years, and he suffered a recurrence of that ailment following an operation for removal of a cataract from one of his eyes.

CLUES INDICATE ALLIANCE DEATH IS MURDER CASE

Unidentified Man Found In Weed Patch; Club Discovered Nearby.

ALLIANCE, Neb, July 15—(AP)—County and city officers today continued an investigation of the death of an unidentified man whose body was found near the city yesterday, with further evidence he had been murdered. No clues to identify the body have been found.

A heavy club was found not far from the body today in addition to marks noticed yesterday indicating a scuffle near the body and at a point about 100 yards from the Burlington tracks. Tracks of two men also were found leading from the spot which appeared to be several days old The body had lain in the sun several days.

Officers thought the death might have been an outgrowth of a fight in the hobo jungles a short distance west of where the body was found in the edge of a barley field along an unused road.

Nothing was left in the pockets of the overall-clad body. A knife was found a few feet away and a hat bore the trademark of a Gordon, Neb, clothing store. The hat appeared to be about two years old and clerks at the Gordon store had no recollection of the sale.

The man must have been about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and about 130 to 145 pounds in weight. Undertaker Harry Wells estimated the man's age at about 40. Officers were attempting to get fingerprints to see if he was an ex-serviceman.

No inquest has been ordered because of the lack of evidence but County Attorney William H Hein said the investigation was proceeding on the theory a murder had been committed.

HEALTH BUREAU SALARIES CUT

Additional Reductions For Doctors Sought By Harm.

Reductions in the salaries of inspectors and nurses in the health department, effective July 1, were announced Saturday by A. C. Harm, head of the department. The cuts, he said, are the first step toward working out economies which, he hopes, will save the city at least $10,000 a year.

According to Harm, other cuts in pay have not been made, along with changes in the personnel and reductions in the number of employes, because his "hands have been tied by three of my colleagues on the city council." They have insisted on his waiting until after the report and recommendations on a federal health survey have bene filed. The health department employes are paid monthly, and the first of the smaller warrants will be distributed August 1.

Plans Medical Staff Cuts.

Some of the contemplated salary cuts, Harm declared, included the medical staff of the department, who now are being paid as flolows, monthly: Dr. M. F. Arnholt, $190; Dr. L. J. Owen, $95; Dr. E. W. Hancock, $76; Dr. W. W. Carveth, $95; Dr. W. M. H. Jones, $104.50 as head of the dental clinic; and Dr. W. A. Campbell, $47.50, in the prenatal clinic. The salary of Dr. George E. Lewis has already been eliminated through his resignation as city physician. He was getting $95 a month.

The pay reductions effective July 1—Inspectors: W. C. Foltz, from $158.33 monthly to $130; E W. McHugh, $142.50, to $125; R. W. Kohler, $142.50 to $125; W. M. Splichal, $133 to $125; H. Z. Diller, $133 to $125; James Spicihal, $133 to $125.

Wheat Prices Soar Sharply

CHICAGO, July 15—(AP)—Wheat again became the stellar performer on the board of trade today advancing 5⅞ cents and closing near the top figures for all deliveries. The king of grains carried other cereals and stocks along with it, largely on crop reports indicating a 30 per cent curtailment of Canadian crops because of adverse weather

Wheat opened sharply higher and for a time soared at the rate of a cent a minute. The May delivery touched $1.23¾, the highest in many months, and closed at $1.22½; December closed at $1.18¼ and July at $1.12⅞. At one time profit taking cut the spurt fully 50 per cent, but wheat would not be denied and regained virtually its top prices for the day

Corn also closed slightly under the highest with the May delivery at 79 1-8; December 73⅞ and July 65. May oats reached 54 and finished at 53 5-8. Both September and December rye held above a dollar with the former ending the day at $1.01¾ and the latter at $1.06⅝.

GUARDSMEN MAY JOIN IN SEARCH FOR O'CONNELL

Soldiers 'Raring to Go Over Top' in Fight On Kidnapers.

(Copyright, 1933, by Associated Press.)

ALBANY, N. Y., July 15—(AP)—Khaki-uniformed national guardsmen were ready today in a hundred hamlets and cities to throw their full force into the man-hunt for their kidnaped officer, Lieut. John J. O'Connell, jr.

As the snatch crime entered its ninth day, fellow officers and guardsmen of the abducted nephew of the democratic boss, Big Dan O'Connell and the politically influential lawyer, Ed O Connell, awaited only the nod from Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

"Raring to Go"

"We are ready at a minute's notice to hunt for Lieut O'Connell" Lieut. Col. Willis H. Donner said today.

Colonel Donner, second in command of the guardsmen in this area, asserted that he and the soldiers were literally "raring to go over the top," but must wait for the command of the governor, who is closely watching the developments in the investigation. Governor Lehman

NEGOTIATE FOR LUER'S RANSOM

Family, However, Lacks Proof Aged Banker Still Alive.

ALTON Ill, July 15(AP)—Family and friends of August Luer, wealthy 77-year-old banker and meat packer, who was kidnaped from his home last Monday night, announced they "hope to have good news today."

Lawrence Keller, jr., appointed with Orville S. Catt to deal with the kidnapers for Luer's release, said he was satisfied that Luer, a sufferer from frequent violent heart attacks, was still alive

ALTON, Ill., July 15—(AP)—Five days after the kidnaping of August Luer, 77-year-old banker, agents of the family admittedly are negotiating for the payment of ransom for his release.

Last night unexplained motor trips were made in the motor car of the missing man by relatives, giving rise to rumors that his release was near.

Indications were that Lawrence Keller, jr., and Orville S. Catt, the

Nearly 1,000 To Start Learning To Swim In Newspapers' Classes Monday

The books were closing Saturday for the fourth annual Lincoln Newspapers' Learn to Swim week with close to 1,000 entered for the free instruction at four pools. Classes upon Monday morning and continue through Friday.

Certificates of merit will be awarded at the end of the session to all who have been able to meet the requirements after the instruction ends. In the three previous years the number "graduating"—that is, learning to swim—has been unusually large. This is due largely to the expert instruction and the fact that the entrants have entered the swim week full of sincere desire to learn to swim. Late entries:

JOHNSON ASKED TO APPROVE A 40 HOUR WEEK

Agreement of "Fair Competition" Filed With Recovery Administration by Iron and Steel Institute Head—Company Union Representation Called for in Code.

WASHINGTON. July 15—(AP)—More proposed codes for industry were filed today at the recovery administration, but the agreement proposed for one of the most important of all—steel—aroused the immediate opposition of organized labor.

The woolen industry laid its trade agreement before Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, but its suggestion for a 40 hour week and a minimum wage of $14 weekly was at variance with the demand by the United Textile Workers of America for 30 hours and an $18 minimum

The steel agreement suggested a 40 hour week and minimum wages of from 25 to 40 cents an hour

Through its president, William Green, the American Federation of Labor said it felt these were too low, but it objected in particular to provisions interpreted as calling for company, rather than outside, unionization of workers

"It is bad enough to have them control prices without also having control of the life of their workers," Green said

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—Steel today joined the march of industries asking the government to approve agreements for their self-regulation and to boost their employment and worker purchasing power.

A "Code of fair competition," proposing an average 40 hour work week in all steel plants, setting minimum wages of 25 to 40 cents an hour for common labor and raising all skilled worker wages a flat 15 per cent, was filed by Robert P Lamont, president of the Iron and

July Feels Like October, Mercury At 67 In Mid-Day

Lincoln "enjoyed" an "autumn" chill in mid-day Saturday as a light rain drove the mercury down ten degrees from 77 at noon to 67 at 2 o'clock. The noon shower amounted to .03 of an inch.

United Air lines reported afternoon rains at York, Rising City, St Paul and Aurora. Most of the eastern part of the state was overcast, but west of North Platte the atmosphere was mostly clear At 2 o'clock, temperatures of 64 at York, and 63 at Grand Island were reported by air line observers Saturday's moderate temperature in Lincoln followed a comfortable night that saw the mercury go down to 63 The highest mercury reading Friday was only 85.

Valentine, with a minimum of 56 degrees, had the lowest reading of stations reporting to the local bureau. The cooling temperature there followed a rain of .10 inch Sioux City, with .51 inch rain, was nearly as cool with a minimum of 58 degrees. North Platte had a low of 66 degrees and Omaha recorded a minimum of 64 degrees.

Bluehill, with a rain of two inches, was the only point in the state reporting any considerable precipitation Friday night to the Burlington Showers fell in the northwest part of Nebraska, from Bayard to Morrill at Hemingford and at Dalton. Showers also fell from Wymore to Firth

A rain of one-sixteenth of an inch was recorded at David City, according to Lincoln Telephone Co reports. A sprinkle fell at Harvard.

Police Arrest Extortionists

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—An attempt of two men to obtain $10,000 from Dr. Jacob Wachsman, Brooklyn physician, under threat of kidnaping, failed today when Brokolyn police speedily apprehended them after they had collected a dummy package of bills.

The arrested pair, who surrendered when police opened fire on their automobile, were booked as Michael Discolo, New York, and Vincent Mosci, Brooklyn.

Tipped off by the intended victim, police were lying in wait at the corner of Sixth avenue and Forty-seventh street in Brooklyn when two men accosted Wachsman, according to schedule and information given him previously in a telephoned warning.

Snatching the dummy bundle from Wachsman, the pair fled in their car when they saw they were surrounded by police. The chase lasted only two blocks, ending when officers opened fire from a pursuing police car.

Uni Day to Be Held Sunday at Capitol

The hours of 2 to 5 p. m. will be a special period for the university people to go through the edifice. Guide tours will be started for groups at half-hour intervals during the afternoon.

FIRE AT MOZER'S.

MILFORD PEOPLE AIDED IN SEARCH

Volunteers Worked Long Hours To Recover Boat Victims.

Co-operation furnished by Milford residents in rescue efforts and the recovery of bodies of two Lincoln men drowned in the Blue river near Milford Wednesday was detailed Saturday by F. G. Bruning, president of the Milford chamber of commerce

A number of Milford men joined in the work of trying to recover the bodies with grappling hooks or by diving after the two men had lost their lives when their boat, carrying a party of five, capsized in the flood swollen waters just below the Milford dam. Two women of the community supplied the workers with sandwiches.

Rev. W. A. Fowler, pastor of the Methodist church, was the man who succeeded in locating the body of Henry Rank late Thursday afternoon after he had worked more than twenty-four hours without rest on the rescue crew, Mr. Bruning said. Dale Cox, 13-year-old Milford boy, dived down and placed a hook in the belt of Marvin Johnson so that his body might be brought to the surface after it was found.

As Rogers Sees It

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 15—Do you remember some of the statements before the London conference started? The world was to stop revolving, air was to lose its oxygen if the conference failed. Herriot of France said, "America and France look with a like purpose on economic problems, the conference must succeed." Cordell Hull really waxed dramatic: "The failure of the conference will mean the failure of statesmanship. Selfishness must be banished from all minds."

Well, the thing has flopped, and we are getting along better than ever. It just shows that nothing is important a month later. The funny part about it is that all those statesmen really thought they were going to "make history." Well, history makes itself, and the statesmen just drag along.

Yours, WILL.

course at high altitudes. An additional aid will be the secret new radio compass installed by the U. S. army at Wright field, Dayton, O.

Sleeps Before Takeoff.

Post arrived at the field about midnight, curled up on a cot, and slept preparatory to the takeoff. He was dressed in a new grey suit, was bareheaded, and wore a white patch over his left eye, the eye which he lost in 1926 on an oil well job. Two years ago, on his 'round-the-world trip, his glass eye irritated him so that he decided to abandon it this year.

He signed the pilots' register: "Wiley Post. From—Floyd Bennett field. Destination—same."

While Post slept, the Winnie Mae, already out on the 4,100 foot runway, was fueled. The tanks were filled with 650 gallons of gasoline and 25 gallons of oil.

The flier carries probably the most elaborate equipment ever to be placed aboard an airplane. It includes:

His food—one quart of water; one quart of tomato juice; one box of hard toast three packages of chewing gum.

Prsonal necessities—extra shirts, ties, underwear, and razor; boric acid; raincoat; three eye patches, two white and one black.

Carrying Tomahawk.

Aeronautical necessities—maps; passports; wireless guides; hand crank; compass compensation chart; five cans ethyl fluid; special monocular; nine pounds grease and a grease gun; five spare wireless tubes; 18 spare spark plugs; fishing line and hooks; cigaret lighter; mosquito net; sleeping bag; generative flashlight.

Two other prized possessions are included. They are a trick parachute, which he won't wear but can slip on in a hurry in case of emergency and an Indian tomahawk, for defense.

Post is guided on his trans-Atlantic flight by wireless station G2LO of Manchseter, England, which will give him regular directional and weather reports. The Winnie Mae is equiped with a radio receiving set only.

Mary Fenton, and Adella R. Luedtke, secretary, from $123.50 to $110 each. The salaries of Margaret Clark Gibson and Harriett B. Johnson have been eliminated through their no longer being in the employ of the city.

Explains Action.

When Mr. Harm announced the salary reductions, he gave out the following prepared statement:

"I have made a careful investigation and study of the city health department for the purpose of determining its needs and improving its service and at the same time reducing the cost of operation, so as to lighten the burden of the taxpayer. In making this investigation, I have had the advice and assistance of some of the best physicians and surgeons in the city, as well as many of its prominent citizens who have no financial interest in the health department, or in advising a change, and who are interested equally in maintaining its efficiency and reducing taxes.

"By eliminating useless personnel, reducing present salaries so that they are commensurate with the service rendered, and by supervised buying so as to eliminate waste, I have found that $10,000 per year can be saved and the service of the health department not impaired, but materially improved.

"In order to accomplish these ends, it will be necessary to change some of the present personnel, who are fond of their jobs, and it may be necessary to defeat the personal ambitions of some of the doctors who are opposing any change in the health department, but since I was elected to represent all of the people of this city instead of a favored few, I will make the changes necessary to improve the service in the health department and efficiency of treatment of patients in the relief department and reduce taxes, unless this department is taken away from me by vote of the city council. I would have put in force and effect this 'new deal' in this department before this time, if my hands had not been tied by three members of the council.

"A. C. HARM."

ment official in Washington said when informed of their action that if they should land in some country on their route it would not only be embarrassing to the American government but would also make the fliers subject to a "spanking" by that country.

The big orange and silver Bellanca monoplane was loaded to capacity with 779 gallons of gasoline, 135 of which were in 5-gallon cans, and 25 gallons of oil.

Takeoff Loggy.

The takeoff was loggy. They used every foot of the long runway and were so slow in getting away that the crowd gasped.

"It was a game takeoff," said the flying experts assembled. "They should have dumped gas to play safe. But they didn't. They didn't dump a drop."

Just before Darius and Girenas took off, John V. P. Heinmuller, official timer of the National Aeronautical association, went up to the plane, wished them good luck, and clamped on to one wing an indicator, designed to tell the fliers at a glance if ice, the terror of Atlantic fliers, is forming on the wings.

It was virtually the only newly developed scientific flying aid in the ship. They were not even carrying parachutes. They have no wireless apparatus.

GUARDSMEN MAY JOIN IN SEARCH FOR O'CONNELL

already has one of his agencies—the state police—operating in the search.

"There isn't a man in the guard who wouldn't jump at the opportunity to track down the kidnapers," the officer declared. "We think the police work so far has been satisfactory, but if the governor orders us into action we're ready and anxious to help."

Colonel Donner said the guardsmen at their drill this week in the armory here discussed the kidnaping for which the abductors demanded $250,000 ransom, and added they were growing fearful over the plight of the 213 pound officer.

After receipt yesterday of the fourth note from the kidnapers the O'Connells hopefully anticipated an early contact with the young man's captors just as they did when the previous communications were received.

Chaney Tells Role Of Newspapers In Law Enforcement

"It is the law that is not generally known by the people that is the law that is difficult and sometimes almost impossible to enforce," declared Assistant Attorney General Paul P. Chaney in an address before the Northeast Nebraska Editorial association Friday night at St. Edward. "Laws that are generally known by the public but in which the public has no confidence or respect are laws which are impossible in a broad sense to enforce."

"We have passed through an era of law enforcement during the past two decades where an attempt was made to enforce a law predicated upon the people and which certain sections of the country entirely opposed," Chaney said. "Whether the law be right or wrong, without a majority of the people favoring the same, enforcement will necessarily be lax. Law enforcement is a matter of education and education is a matter of obtaining knowledge from public opinion and from reading. All persons are readers of newspapers or other publications and this fact makes the newspaper man and the editorial writer the educator of his community."

JOHNSON ASKED TO APPROVE A 40 HOUR WEEK

Steel institute, with the recovery administration.

Hugh S. Johnson, head of the recovery unit, immediately declared: "Not even in wartime have I seen a more wholehearted, patient and persistent effort on the part of leaders of an industry to solve their internal problems and to bring about a solution which in their judgment would meet the needs of the present emergency."

He said he had given no advance approval to any provisions of the agreement, but pointed out that the steel men have worked night and day for the past month to get together. He will set a date for hearing on the code early next week.

Other Codes Awaited.

With this code, those filed for lumber and oil and additional ones expected shortly for the coal industry, Johnson said hearings on all basic industries will be under way before the end of the month. An arrangement is being completed to put all rayon and silk spinning and weaving plants under the cotton textile code, effective Monday, the only one promulgated.

Administrators estimated this would spread the 40 hour week and increase the wages of around a quarter of a million workers in addition to the 450,000 in the cotton trade itself.

Meanwhile the steering committee of the cotton industry held final conferences with Johnson for getting their code into effect.

No exception of any of the terms, whether in the original code or in the conditions attached by President Roosevelt, it was decided, will be made for any individual plant.

90 Per Cent Favor Code.

It was definitely understood that well in excess of 90 per cent of the steel production of the country was represented in the agreement.

The steel code called for a limitation of hours to permit no employe to work an average of more than 40 hours per week in any six months period.

A minimum wage scale for common labor ranging from 25 cents per hour in the southern district to 40 cents in the big steel centers of the north was provided.

These rates of pay were the result of suggestions submitted by 260 steel manufacturers over the United States. The code carried a clause prescribing on what basis employes should be organized and represented in dealings with the employers.

This was interpreted to call for company union representation rather than outside unionization of the plants, a question which has been the most acute issue in bringing the steel industry under agreement.

Fundamental Principles.

Fundamental principles of employe representation were stated by the code to be:

1—That there shall be no discrimination against employes because of race, sex, creed, membership in societies, fraternities, unions, etc.

2—Employes shall have the right to hold elections of their representatives at least once a year

3—To avoid intimidation, nominations and elections of such representatives shall be by secret ballot, but shall be held on the premises of the employers.

4—The workers' representatives shall be chosen from among the employes who shall not participate in management of the business, they shall be sufficiently numerous and representative of various types of labor to give each group a fair show.

5—Employe representatives shall have the right to meet without attendance of any management agent.

6—Procedure shall be maintained for employe representatives to confer with employers at regular intervals, for full and unhampered discussion of "any topic of mutual interest."

7—If employe and employer representatives disagree on wages, hours of labor or other conditions of employment, appeal shall be taken to the chief executive of the company "with a view of a final decision that shall be just and fair as between the parties interested."

8—Employe representation plans shall be operated to insure the workers' spokesmen "full protection in the conscientious representation of their constituents."

The code declared it the opinion of the industry that it was not necessary to make any specific provision for controlling volume of production or for allocating production or sale among its members.

"It is believed," it stated, "that the elimination of unfair practices in the industry will automatically eliminate any overproduction therein and any alleged inequities in the distribution of production and sale among its members."

Boost Follows Two Cuts.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—The 15 per cent wage increase provided by the steel industry's code, filed at Washington today, follows two reductions during the course of the depression.

In September, 1931, steel workers' wages were cut 10 per cent. In May of the following year another 15 per cent was pared from the scale. Last year there were rumors that another cut was likely, but this was not forthcoming.

Here are the detailed minimum wage schedules for various sections under the proposed code:

Eastern district 35 cents per hour; Johnstown, 37; Pittsburgh, 40; Youngstown, 40; North Ohio river, 40; Canton, Massillon and Mansfield, 37; Cleveland, 40; Buffalo, 38; Detroit-Toledo, 40; South Ohio river, 37; Indiana-Illinois-St. Louis, 37; Chicago, 40; Southern, 25; Birmingham, 27; Kansas City, 35; Duluth, 37; Colorado, 40; Utah, 39; Seattle, 38; San Francisco, 37; Los Angeles, 35.

Increases Announced.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 15—(AP)—A general wage increase of 15 per cent in all steel mills in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, with a new minimum wage of 40 cents an hour will go into effect tomorrow, according to an announcement today by officials of the leading mills.

The new scale will raise the minimum from its present rate of 33 cents, or an increase of more than 20 per cent.

Approximately 40,000 men will be affected in the two valleys.

Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., who made the announcement for that concern, said future hours would be made to conform with the national steel code, presented at Washington today.

Carnegie Steel Boosts.

PITTSBURGH, July 15—(AP)—Coincident with the submission of the steel code, the Carnegie Steel Co., subsidiary of United States Steel, today announced a 15 per cent wage increase. The pay rise affects 30,000 workers.

Under the new scale, the hourly wage for laborers is increased from 33 to 40 cents.

Hike at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, July 15—(AP)—The Corrigan McKinney Steel Co. today announced it would raise wages 15 per cent, effective tomorrow, with a minimum rate of 40 cents per hour The increase will affect approximately 3,000 workers.

official negotiators, had not made a personal contact with the abductors.

Yesterday, in their last formal statement, they said several demand notes had been received from the reputed kidnapers. The messages, however, did not contain Luer's assurance in his own handwriting, that he was alive and well.

Such assurance has been demanded by Keller and Catt as a necessary prerequisite of ransom negotiations. The agents did not make known the amount of money asked for the return of the captive.

The banker suffers from frequent heart attacks, and members of his family have expressed fear he would not survive the excitement attendant upon his seizure Monday night in his own home by two men and a woman.

No 14—(437 yards; par 4)—Rod got a break when his drive hit in the rough to the left and bounded back on the fairway. Matt was up in the middle. Both sent beauties to the green, Rid finishing nine feet from cup and Matt seven feet. Bliss sank his putt for another birdie and went five up when Matt was short.

No. 15—(350 yards; par 4)—Zadalis went five while Bliss was on in two and down over into a rut with his second and then passed the pin on his out. He took a in par four to go six up.

No. 16—(307 yards; par 4)—A sensational recovery shot from deep rough and a six-foot putt for a birdie gave Matt no better than a halve on the hole when Bliss ran down a 12-footer for another three

No. 17—(578 yards; par 5)—Matt blew up completely on this treacherous hole. After his drive sliced into the trees, he tried a left-handed shot which rent the ball but about two feet. He knocked it carelessly on the next shot. His fourth was off line, and his fifth rolled into the rough. He picked up after seven strokes. Rod was in a trap beside the green in three and eight feet away in four. Matt conceded Bliss a par five but Rod decided to play it out and took a six. Bliss 7 up.

No. 18—(414 yards; par 4)—Rod was 20 yards in front with a terrific clout off the tee. Matt was in a trap on his second. Rod missed the green and was five yards to the right. Rod pitched four feet away and holed for a par four and closed the morning round 8 up and three under par.

SEEK ENJOIN CUSHMAN SALE

set aside by the court after the stockholders had claimed Ammon represented both sides of the litigation. Ammon presented his case anew to the court and the decision on that hearing has not yet been given by the court.

The complaining stockholders allege that Ammon is a competitor of the Cushman Motor Works as owner of the Easy Manufacturing Co., and that he has since 1930 gained control of controlling interest in the Cushman company for the purpose of "selling its assets at auction during the depression and bid them in at a nominal consideration."

Outstanding debts and claims against the company are alleged by the stockholders to be approximately $50,000 and it is claimed that practically all of this is held by Ammon. The petitioners allege the fair and reasonable market value of the assets and business of the corporation is about $250,000 and that it will be impossible to realize anything near the fair and reasonable value of the assets if the company is sold at auction as contemplated by Ammon.

Officers Ammon Employes.

Allegation is made that at the time of their election as directors in the Cushman company, Cooper, Sherwood and Miss Dernier were employed by Ammon in the Easy Manufacturing Co.

The resolution drawn up for the auction has a provision for the protection of Ammon, it is claimed, whereby the directors reserve the right to reject any bids. There is a further provision, it is alleged, which calls for prospective bidders to deposit $5,000 in a Lincoln bank, the Cushman company to retain the money as liquidation damages in the event a successful bidder shall fail to complete settlement within ten days.

Coroner's Jury Recommends Holding Omaha Man; Disburse $200,000 In Western Nebraska.

DEATH FOLLOWS AUTO COLLISION

Survivor Fails To Testify At Coroner's Inquest.

OMAHA, July 15—(AP)—A coroner's jury today recommended that J. A. Reinemund, Omaha radio announcer, be held in connection with the death in an automobile collision early Thursday of J. W. Thomas, golf starter at an Omaha muny golf course.

Deputy County Attorney G. F. Nye said he would file information against Reinemund, charging that he caused death while unlawfully operating an automobile.

Lester G. Utley, milk wagon driver, testified that Reinemund was driving east and Thomas north at a suburban intersection and that the left front wheel of Thomas' car hit the right rear wheel of Reinemund's car. The radio announcer refused to testify on advice of his attorney.

Two Seriously Hurt.

Two men, Pierce Walsh, 55, and John O'Sullivan both of Omaha, were seriously injured last night when the car in which they were riding crashed into an electric light pole after being in a collision with three other machines.

Walsh, driver of the car, suffered severe cuts about the face and head and possible internal injuries. O'Sullivan was severely bruised and may have a concussion of the brain.

The first collision occurred when the car which Walsh was driving struck that of Frank Hrncir. It then careened into a car driven by Clarence Case and afterwards struck a truck driven by B.L. Kohrell, Nebraska City, striking a pole as it glanced off the truck.

Both men are in a local hospital.

Indiana Democrat Succeeds Strong As Home Loan Official

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—P. J. Maloney of Columbia City, Ind., today was named treasurer of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, succeeding James G. Strong, former republican representative of Kansas.

The announcement was made by the federal home loan bank board, which is administering the Home Owners Loan corporation.

Maloney, a staunch democrat, is to take over his duties next week. The board shifted Strong to the office of assistant treasurer.

Considerable criticism was directed at the board by democrats for appointing Strong, an ardent supporter of former President Hoover, to the important position of treasurer.

He came to Ashland in 1866 from Indiana and is survived by his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Cook of Lincoln, and three sons, John of Wahoo, Arthur of Omaha and George of Portland, Ore. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at the home of John Lindley here.

Threat of Anthrax Reported Lessening

Additional hope that the expected outbreak of anthrax this year might not develop was shown in the report Saturday by Dr. H. L. Feistner, state veterinarian, that three more quarantines had been lifted, leaving only 22 Nebraska farms under supervision for this livestock disease. The quarantines released were all in Knox county. One new quarantine was reported Friday.

INJUNCTION CASE APPEAL IS FILED

Interstate Power Seeks Prevent Muny Plant At Ainsworth.

Seeking to prevent Ainsworth from building a city power plant, the Interstate Power Co., appealed an injunction case to the Supreme court Friday afternoon. District Judge Dickson denied the company's application for an injunction to prevent Ainsworth officials from carrying out a contract with the Fairbanks-Morse Construction Co. last Monday. The Fairbanks-Morse company has contracted to build the municipal plant for $90,000 payable out of earnings.

The contract calls for payment of $89,390 over a period of ten years and with interest amounts to $127,000. This is an exorbitant price, at least $15,000 too high, the power company contends.

Ainsworth city officials voted to build the plant without submitting the question to the people, the Interstate Power Co. claims. It has a franchise in Ainsworth and says the competing city plant would destroy the value if its $30,000 investment.

The power company claims the method of financing the city plant is illegal. The company building the municipal plant must finance the project and take its pay out of the earnings. The Fairbanks-Morse company proposes to sell debentures to the public without authority of the state, according to the Interstate.

Quo warranto proceedings to oust the Fairbanks-Morse company from the state are asked by the Interstate. It claims Fairbanks-Morse is not incorporated in Nebraska and has no authority to operate in this state.

Other contentions of the power company are that the contract price for building the plant is excessive, that the municipal plant will not pay out and that the debentures would run for more than the legal limit.

Today

Hitler Means It

They Just Will Not Rise

A Bank Robber Annoyed

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The Roosevelt administration taking charge of business, with codes establishing wages, hours and days of work, seems violent to some, but what do you think of Chancellor Hitler and his laws that threaten with death anybody that interferes with his plans for running the country's industry as it should be done.

Big business in Germany, far from objecting, says it is delighted with Hitler's program. Krupp von Bohlen, one of Germany's greatest manufacturers, is delighted, and predicts all kinds of wonderful German prosperity.

Here in the United States, while codes are prepared to end strikes and make them impossible, 85,000 workers in the garment trades are called out in New York. The strike may be settled today. Such strikes will not be possible when the new industrial recovery scheme starts working, if it works successfully.

In New York, socalled "reds," interested in communistic ideas, confess sorrowfully that communism in America "has failed to develop into a revolutionary mass party of the proletariat."

That condition, which is sad for the "reds," may continue indefinitely. It is hard to have a communistic, proletarian "mass party" when the proletariat doesn't even know that it is a proletariat. In fact it wouldn't thank you to apply the word proletarian to its members and then explain it as "the lowest class in society, good for nothing but hard work." Many of the "mass" in this country still believe in opportunity, and corner lots.

From Altamont, Kan., there comes a slight variation in the usual bank robbery news. Isaac McCarthy, cashier of the small Labette County bank, killed a robber with a rifle while a robber held McCarthy's wife in front of him as a shield. He did not know how good a shot McCarthy was. McCarthy also shot down a second robber with a shot gun.

Chicago has a taxicab war, making it possible to ride for 10 cents a mile, pleasant for riders, ruinous for drivers and cab owners.

But conditions change, and in the faraway future, 10 cents a mile may seem extortionate. Scientists tell us that atomic energy locked up in a small glass of water would drive the biggest steamship across the Atlantic ocean. If men ever harness that power European travel will be cheap.

Moses could not have believed that some day British airplanes would fly back and forth in a few hours over territory through which he wandered for 40 years. And the old "Forty-niners" would have laughed had you predicted that in 1933 a man would fly from the Pacific to the Atlantic in 11 hours, over all the plains, prairies and mountains across which they toiled for months.

Morale Runs High In C. C. C. Camps

Only Two Boys Sent Home From Groups In Nebraska.

Laziness and homesickness haven't taken the toll among Nebraska "C. C. C." workers that is reported in some other states, State Game Warden Frank O'Connell said Saturday. Only two youths have been sent home from the three civilian conservation corps camps under O'Connell's supervisio and these were "deported" for insubordination.

"We are well pleased with the work being done in the camps," said O'Connell. "The boys are doing a good job and there is rivalry between the camps to see which can develop the best recreation grounds."

O'Connell said there is no question but that the youths are earning their dollar a day. The "reforestation workers," as they are usually called, have not been complaining about work, however. O'Connell said there would be plenty of work for the youths until December, when the camps close.

State Purchasing Agent Ferris and O'Connell visited camps at Louisville and Fremont Friday. Ferris is assistant procurement officer and sees the camps have the necessary equipment. E. R. Purcell of Broken Bow, a member of the state game commission, is to visit the third camp at Chadron on Saturday and Sunday. Although it was unofficially reported that the government would also establish a camp at Valentine, this has never been done, O'Connell said Saturday. He does not expect that this will be done now.

PROHIBITIONIST THINKS NEW BEER PROVING BLESSING

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., July 15—(AP)—Dr. E. E. Boyd, mayor of Central City and a lifetime advocate of prohibition, believes the advent of 3.2 beer may prove a blessing in disguise.

In an interview, he said, "I am compelled to recognize the fact that 3.2 beer is about as non-intoxicating as the claim; it might prove a sort of blessing in disguise to take the brewing of higher powered stuff out of the homes."

"I am one life long prohibitionist who is willing to admit that prohibition, as administered to date, has not been ideal. I hate liquor as the devil hates holy water, but prohibition to date has not removed liquor," he said.

Dr. Boyd was formerly a minister of the Christian church. He held the pastorate of the East Lincoln church here some years ago.

BEET LABORERS GET LARGE SUM

First Installment Disbursed in Western Nebraska.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., July 15—(AP)—More than $200,000 is being paid by sugar beet farmers of western Nebraska to beet field laborers today, representing their first payments of the 1933 season.

Between 45,000 and 50,000 of the approximately 75,000 acres of beets under cultivation in the Nebraska district of the Great Western Sugar company are being tended by labor families, while the remainder of the acreage is attended by members of the growers' families.

The first payment is remittance for blocking and thinning and the first hoeing done by the workers. District Manager F. A. Kemp said there has been no surplus of beet labor and there have been no labor families who have not received work during the season.

Donohoe Claims Not Paid For His Work

Brings Suit For $18,000 Against Life Insurance Company For Services As Its Attorney.

NORFOLK, Neb., July 15—(AP)—Charging defendant failed to live up to its contracts with him, J. A. Donohoe, now federal judge, Friday filed in Federal court here an action against the Royal Union Life Insurance company for $18,174.48.

Plaintiff states in his petition that on Jan. 22, 1932, while he was a practicing attorney at O'Neill, he entered into a contract with defendant to represent it in an attempted consolidation of the Bankers Reserve Life company of Omaha with the Royal Union Life, and the removal of the Bankers Reserve Life from Nebraska.

Under terms of the contract, he claims defendant was to pay him $15,000 for his services. Donohoe avers that he arranged with the officers of the Bankers Reserve Life for the consolidation and that after arrangements had been made the defendant "failed, refused and neglected to complete said consolidation."

The plaintiff also claims that expenses incurred in this work were $100.21. He also alleges that he has in twelve foreclosure actions, paid court costs for the Royal Union Life and that the defendant has not paid him for services agreed to in contracts.

FLORISTS WILL WORK ON CODE

Committee Named to Suggest Points To Regional Group.

With the appointment of a committee to speak for their association in assisting with the drafting of a regional industrial code as suggested by the federal recovery act, members of the Nebraska State Florists society meeting Saturday at the Cornhusker hotel made preliminary steps to protect their interests in Nebraska.

Included on the committee scheduled to meet Saturday afternoon were: Emil Muscheid, North Platte, president; L. McDonald, Robert Danielson, Lincoln; George Suris, Arvid Anderson, Omaha; Joe Green, Fremont; Wesley Williams, Chadron; Andrew Irvin, Alliance; William Richards, David City; Victor Reed, Superior, and Alfred Anderson, Columbus.

After hearing the industrial recovery act explained by Buell Williams, Des Moines, department of commerce representative, the florists decided to make suggestions to a regional committee which is formulating the floral code.

In a discussion conducted by Mr. Williams, members of the society indicated that they would suggest some regulation of establishments that sell flowers only on special occasions.

To Regulate Sales.

Means of regulating sale of flowers by non-taxable institutions, were also discussed.

Officers of the society expressed the opinion that the Nebraska florists intend to ratify the regional code, rather than to send suggestions direct to Washington for consideration.

Before the morning session got under way a brief memorial service was held in tribute to Irvin Frey, prominent Lincoln florist and member of the society, who died during th past year.

In addition to the committee meeting which was to begin shortly after 2 o'clock, Charles Matson, Lincoln attorney, was scheduled to speak to the group during the afternoon.

Saturday evening, a banquet will be held at the Frey & Frey Glass Acres, Thirty-fifth and Lake streets, after which visiting members will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Virginia Frey.

Friday evening the society held its annual family picnic at Capitol Beach.

Wants Money For Nebraska Indian Reservation Work

WASHINGTON, July 15— (AP) — Rep. Edgar Howard carried to Secretary of Commerce Roper this week the plea of Nebraska's Winnebago and Omaha Indian reservations for $125,000 to be used in construction and improvement work on the reservations, located in Thurston and Dakota counties.

That sum, if authorized by the public works board, of which Roper heads a subcommittee dealing with national forests and Indian reservations, would come from the fifty million dollars to be granted for such work, Howard said.

CORN COSTS 49 CENTS A BUSHEL

Department Finds Figure Not So High For Nebraska.

WASHINGTON, July 15— (AP) — Farmers over the nation spent an average of 49 cents to raise a bushel of corn in 1932, but in South Dakota, North Dakota and Kansas the average cost was 53 cents, the department of agriculture reports.

Those costs include land rent, without which the national average cost was 35 cents and the cost in South Dakota's group was 38 cents. Iowa and Illinois prdouced corn at the lowest cost, followed by Nebraska and Missouri.

The first figure, says the department, indicates what a farmer must get for his corn to "come out." But since it includes rent and wages, it is somewhat higher than the actual "out of pocket" costs and accounts for a farmer's ability to keep going when his technical costs exceed his returns.

South Dakota's 3-state group harvested nearly ten million acres of corn last year, producing over 175 million bushels. The pre-acre yield averaged 17.8 bushels, bettered only by Illinois and Iowa, and Missouri and Nebraska.

Seek Construction H. B. Grainger Will

Trustees Ask Court For Advice On Residuary Provisions Of Instrument.

Three trustees of the estate of Harry B. Grainger have asked the District court for a declaratory judgment on the construction of a part of his will. The court ruling is asked to permit the trustees to distribute the residuary part of the estate, heretofore held in trust in accordance with provisions of the will.

Heirs are in controversy, it is alleged, as to whether three grandsons of Mr. Grainger should share in the estate. They are Herbert Grainger, 18, Robert A. Grainger, 17, and Richard B. Grainger, 16. All are the children of Herbert Norbury Grainger, a son of Harry B. Grainger. Herbert Norbury's death preceded that of his father in September, 1926.

The issue revolves around interpretation of a clause in the Grainger will which provided that the residue of the estate should go at the end of the trust period to the surviving children and "to the issue of such of my children as may have died prior to the happening of that event."

Three children of Harry B. Grainger claim, according to the petition, that this provision of their father's will includes the issue of only such children as were living at the time of the execution of the will. Under this theory, it is claimed, the three children, Harry K. Grainger, Joseph John Grainger and Elsie Grainger Fullerton, are contending that they should each have a one-third share in the residue of the estate, and that the three grandchildren, whose father died prior to the making of the will, should be excluded.

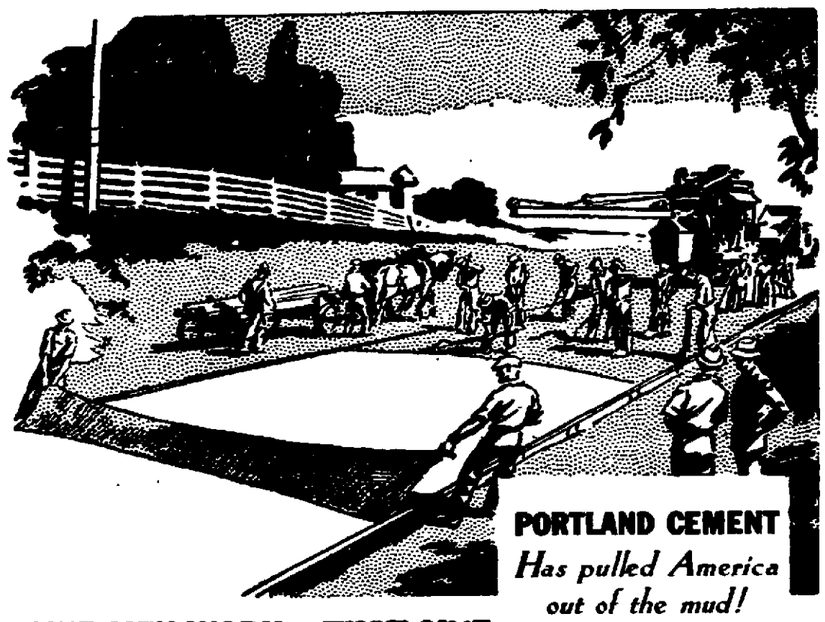

The grandsons claim, the petitioners allege, that the residue should be divided into four equal parts, and that the fourth part should be divided among them.

The trustees asking construction of the will are the Lincoln National Bank and Trust Co., William E. Barkley and Joseph Grainger.

BANK WILL REOPEN.

This work will be done through your own State Highway Department. The Federal Government asks no return except that the money be expended wisely—that the improvements be permanent, substantially built and of a type that gives men work.

CONCRETE ROADS meet every specification. They are permanent. Maintenance cost is much less than that of any other type. They give you the greatest driving safety, convenience and comfort. They cost less to drive over—saving you gas, tires, repairs and depreciation. They will give work to men now on doles in your community. Money will flow across the counters of home stores.

Insist on CONCRETE for your roads—get the most and the best road for the money—and the maximum employment for labor!

Remember the roads of 1910? Narrow strips of dirt—ankle-deep dust—quagmires of mud—The cost of moving goods was terrific!

The engineers have built, with cement, a network of CONCRETE highways throughout the nation that is nearly one hundred thousand miles in length. Cement spanned great rivers and broad valleys with concrete. Cement made the modern motor vehicle practical; made motoring a part of our daily life.

HUMAN NATURE.

A distinguished American permitted this odd mixture of blunt and homely truth, and subtle untruth, to tumble from his lips:

"It does not seem to occur to the average man that at the bottom human nature is responsible for the world's economic miseries and that it is only by raising the general level of human character throughout the world that a new society free from war, brutality, arrogance, selfishness, waste, disease, and human misery, which are the real causes of all economic depressions, can be brought about. Viewed from this angle, the job is one for the philosopher, the priest, and the doctor, rather than the statesman, lawyer, or business executive."

The man who made that statement was governor of a great state for four years. He is a student of governmental science, and as such might be expected to understand how political philosophy and the application of governmental principles fit in to business and industry.

The real explanation of the depression which started in 1929 may be found in loose and flabby financial morals. How the philosopher, the priest, or the doctor can attack that problem is not clear entirely. Millions of people were thrown out of work who never speculated on the board of trade, or tossed a fast one past a fellow being's nose and millions more lost everything they possessed, although they never took a flier in their lives. The man who says to you that every one was living foolishly, speculating crazily, and participating in the peculiar trends which produced the emergency simply isn't thinking carefully or honestly. Not half the people of the United States were playing the market on margin at any single period during the bull market of the '20s. Millions of them were investing conservatively, as they thought, in the form of investments which they had been taught to believe was safe and secure. It is unfair to blame the average man or the common run of man, which ever choice of words is desired, for the ignominious failure of industrial, business, and financial leadership.

A democracy must produce its leaders and follow its leaders. It is inherently a part of the theory of democracy that out from the ranks of the masses will come men and women endowed with those qualities which breed trust and confidence and which establish the claim of leadership. All that has transpired has been in vain if the American people fail to recognize that the trouble got its start at the top, at the head, instead of among the roots.

Mr. Average Man can blame himself for one thing. He listened too much to the head men. He endeavored to emulate their practices. He was lulled to sleep by their sugar-coated softly-spoken words, until he, too, became a victim of their folly. It was the story of Mr. So and So and Mr. So and So's big cleanup which aroused the interest and the cupidity of some one further down the ladder. It was the high pressure salesmanship methods sanctioned by the most reputable institutions which made it possible for conscienceless salesmen to peddle securities of doubtful value to millions further down the ladder. It was the secret financial plans prepared in directors' ornate rooms, richly furnished, which cost hundreds of thousands of unsuspecting and guilible people their life savings.

Shall the tail or body of society be expected to control the head?

When the character of business and industrial leadership in America is improved, it is not to be anticipated that the qualities of arrogance, selfishness, and favoritism, expressing themselves in exploitation, will present a serious problem. There have been few times in history when the masses arose to exploit, or better still, to oppress, those at the top. Most of the time, it has been the other way around.

Human nature is responsible for the world's economic misery. It has been the calloused, indifferent attitude of the strong toward the weak which has caused most of the trouble. It has been the tendency of those a little more mentally nimble, better physically equipped, a little more ruthless in method, and a little more devoid of conscience than the common run, who have brought most of this misery upon the people. If the top will effect its own reformation, if it will raise the level of its own character, it will supply the necessary example needed for desirable qualities in the masses. The great need in a democracy is inspired and enlightened leadership, which the common run may follow with security and safety.

DEATH FOR KIDNAPERS.

"IT must never happen again—to anyone." These were the words of Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager of Kansas City, when shown the house in which she had been detained while plotters who had kidnaped her negotiated with her father, from whom they extorted a large sum of money. Then, despite the bravery which she had previously exhibited, she fainted at thoughts of the horrors she had undergone while awaiting liberation.

But it has happened again, and repeatedly, the abductions and extortions during the past few weeks having exceeded in boldness and the size of the ransoms demanded all previous records. There appears to be but one solution—kidnaping for the purpose of extortion must be punishable by death and the penalty must be swift and certain.

Edmund Pearson, is one of America's foremost writers on real life crimes. He has studied and written of crimes for ten years, and in an interview in New York Friday he said: "It will be a fortunate and comfortable day for the people of this country when some kidnaper sits down in the electric chair." He is right; and he is still right, when in speaking of kidnaping, he says: "It is a piece of carefully thought out and caluculated devilishness. The kidnaper plans to extort money by torturing people. The men who plan kidnaping ought never to be allowed outside of prison again."

Everyone knows that the only way to be certain that criminals will never again be outside of prison is to inflict the death penalty, and in this connection Pearson calls attention to conditions in Canda and England, where the crime problem is practically solved, because all know that punishment will be swift and certain.

Now that the vast profits they have been making from the liquor traffic are gone or threatened, the gangsters of the cities are taking to kidnaping and bank robbery. There is only one weapon with which to combat this menace, and that is the electric chair. A few executions will have a more salutary effect than all of the prison sentences that could be imposed.

ECONOMY GONE ASTRAY.

NORTHERN Nebraska counties are now tasting the fruits of legislative economy. Farmers in several of these counties, which have been the hardest hit of any section of the state due to drouth, insects and the depression, are pleading for state assistance in fighting grasshoppers. They are sending petitions, delegations and letters to state officials and are keeping the telephone wires busy seeking state aid in this fight to save their crops.

The governor and the head of the agriculture department are not indifferent to the plight of farmers, whose only hope of meeting obligations is in a corn crop upon which grasshoppers are fattening. The state officials have shown this by expending all the funds available to aid in exterminating the pests. They cannot do more.

The legislature made only a $2,500 appropriation for eradication of insect pests. It did reappropriate an estimated $10,000 in the fund for eradication of the corn borer and for grasshopper control.

Eighteen carloads of grasshopper poison has been purchased by the state. The cost of the bait and of shipping it amounts to about $550 a car. The result is that there's no more money which can be spent to help the farmers in their fight.

The worst feature of the situation is that Nebraska not only has nothing available this year for combatting insect pests but it will have no funds until the next legislature meets, which will be in January of 1935 unless it becomes necessary to call a special session. Should grasshoppers, the chinch bug or other insects threaten crops next year the state would be unable to give any assistance to its farmers in fighting them.

The suggestion that an emergency fund of $100,000 be established by the legislature was made by D. F. Felton, director of the agriculture department. He wanted this fund so that in the event of an outbreak of the hoof and mouth disease, of unusual danger from grasshoppers or of any other emergency situation, the state could take care of the problem. Legislators, including those from counties now crying for state assistance, refused even to consider the plan.

Undoubtedly legislators were reflecting the views of many of their constituents when they refused to make appropriations of this kind. But these same constituents may be cussing the representative now because he took their advice. Conditions have demonstrated that the legislature should not be guided solely by today but should give some thought of tomorrow.

WHY NATIONAL CODES ARE NEEDED.

DEVELOPMENTS in the taxicab war at Chicago, in which the rates have been cut to the absurdly low figure of 10 cents a mile, with extra passengers carried free, illustrate the need for setting up industrial codes, as provided for in the national recovery act, and compelling employers to live up to them.

Everybody knows that taxicabs cannot be operated in cities for 10 cents a mile, if the drivers are to be paid a decent wage, the cars kept in good running condition, and passengers given adequate service with insurance protection against accidents. When fares are established on such an inadequate basis, it means that something is radically wrong with the business.

A situation of this kind is usually brought about by competing concerns seeking to put each other out of business. They are not imbued by any altruistic motive, the end in view being to put up the rates again and make the public pay the losses after the competition has been removed.

Under conditions of this sort, employers cannot pay living wages to their workers. In the taxicab field, this leads to exactions practiced on passengers by manipulating the meter or taking long, roundabout routes in order to run up mileage. The public, too, is expected to tip the drivers handsomely, knowing that they cannot subsist out of their meager earnings.

If and when a code of fair practices is put into effect governing the operation of vehicles for hire, it will forbid their owners to sell their service at less than cost. The cost will include fair wages for the men, upkeep and replacement items on the equipment, insurance, rent, and other factors, and a reasonable profit. These things the public must pay in some form or other, in any event. They might as well be charged for in the regular rates.

Most employers, it is to be presumed, want to do the right thing by their employes and for their customers. It is the unscrupulous minority that resorts to unfair cutting of prices and demoralizes business. The purpose of industrial codes is to put an end to this sort of thing. Those who refuse to observe sound business principles and attempt to destroy their competitors by destructive methods must and will be restrained.

NO NEED FOR IT.

AN OBSERVANT Englishman visiting here last week suggested America had not developed any really great economists. The statement is controversial and in deference to a British visitor should be forgiven for its bluntness. Whether the age of a country has anything to do with the development of a sound knowledge of economics, and a thorough appreciation of its infinite importance to the hardihood and stability of a nation, is another view of debatable character.

It is true that America has not paid a great deal of attention to those of her sons who devote their lives to economic research. In this particular, we differ from the British, but it was not a natural aptitude or desire which compelled the British to give close attention to economics and to economists. The task of sustaining 44 million mouths on a group of scrawny little islands, none too well blest with natural resources, isn't a week end diversion. It's a man-sized job, calling for the closest application throughout every day in the week. And because the British cannot feed or clothe their people, cannot provide them with a livelihood or an occupation as easily as other countries possessing much greater territorial extent and much richer natural resources, the British government has made a hobby of economics with the result the people are far more economic-minded than most nations.

Here in this country our economists have issued warnings and have suggested programs, and our politicians have proceeded to tear them up with healthy disdain, because our natural wealth made careful close economics unnecessary. There is reason to believe that over the next span, we shall give much more attention to economic theories than we ever have in the past.

QUESTION.
Little Rock, Ark.
Please suggest a brief list of hymns which will lighten my daily burdens?

ANSWER.

Begin the day with John Keble's "Sun of My Soul." When sorely pressed remember Edwin Hatch's "Breathe on Me, Breath of God." If strength enters your life chant Whittier's noble stanzas:

"Ring, bells, in unrear steeples,
The joy of unborn peoples!
Sound, trumpets, far off blown,
Your triumph is my own."

"I feel the earth moved sunward,
I join the great march onward.
And take, by faith, while living,
My freehold of thanksgiving."

If heart-stricken, recall Charles Wesley's "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." If worshipful, what is better than Thomas Oliver's grand Hebraic strain "The God of Abraham Praise." If aware of the useless strife of tongues, join with Whittier again in his lyric prayer:

"Dear Lord and Father of mankind,
Forgive our feverish ways."

On Lord's Days what is better than "O Sabbath Rest of Galilee!" When in the congregation of the saints, for aspiration's adequate expression use
"Now thank we all our God
With hearts and hands and voices."

In perplexity Cardinal Newman's "Lead, Kindly Light," is a tonic for the soul. As night falls "Abide With Me," by Henry F. Lyte, is a portion of God's bread in due season. As you recall the loved ones gone before surely you can say with Charley Wesley:

"Come, let us join our friends above
Who have obtained the prize,
And on the celestial wings of love
To joys celestial rise."

And when a nation's life is plumbed to its depth Isaac Watt's "O God, our Help in Ages past, Our hope in years to come," is a veritable Rock of Refuge.

As Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkield says:
"A great hymn sung with devout heart may serve to...split the sky in two and let the face of God shine through."

QUESTION.
Trenton, N. J.
My daughter went to college and came home a Socialist. You will know how I feel about this when I tell you I am descended from Revolutionary ancestors and believe in our old-fashioned Americanism. How can I show her the error of her doctrine?

ANSWER.

Apparently you have long since ceased to revolt, while your daughter has reverted to her glorious ancestors who dared to overthrow the established order of their day. So do not try to coerce her mind, but by all possible means keep your hold on her heart. She is dealing with one group of antagonisms which concerns the problems of capital and labor. So why increase the number by adding a domestic quarrel? Let your home be her refuge from economics, production, distribution, the gold standard, or the right of the state to own all raw material and the means of its manufacture.

Socialism has its philosophy its creed, its plan of action, its advocates and disciples. The rank and file of the latter group have suffered. They contend they have discovered the cure for their sufferings. I do not think they have, any more than you do. But what remedy have you and I to propose?

So is it not best for you to be a first class mother just now, and let the Senate of the United States gnaw these controversial bones to the last splinter while you cherish that fine, upstanding, sympathetic girl of yours? She is doubtless aware that some so-called "old-fashioned Americans" are like Lot's wife, always looking backward, pillars of salt athwart the paths which should lead to social renewal. Your sacrificial motherhood counts far more with her than Karl Marx. She is experiencing her growing pains, and these show that she is not simply an animated peg on which to hang expensive millinery.

QUESTION.
Columbia, S. C.
What was the cost in dollars of the World war?

ANSWER.

Dean Weigle, of Yale University, in a recent article tells us that if men had begun back in the days of Moses to throw money into the sea at the rate of a dollar each second or $60 a minute, and that wasteful procedure had been kept up continuously for twenty-four hours a day and for 365 days in each year up to the present moment, there would have been thrown away less than half of the direct cost of the World war of 1914-'18.

Indeed, some maniac breed could continue wasting money at the same rate for 3,500 years yet to come before the total amount would equal the cost of the unhappy conflict. Do you wonder the human family is in a desperate situation? If inhabitants of some other planet could have observed our behavior for the last two decades they would surely have reckoned us mad.

Should such a catastrophe recur, who can escape ruinous destructionu We need a new deal. Yet everywhere men and nations discuss with avidity the equalizng of production and distribution, technological problems, and the roots of this stubborn resistance to human well being, while at the same time they rearm and some even proceed to battle again. Mankind thus preaches peace and prepares for war. I predict that the next church or state which God lists for immortality will be the one which makes a fresh start by forever renouncing war.

France won't co-operate with America for fear of losing money. If only we had thought of that in 1918.

You can subsidize all of the people part of the time, and part of the people all the time, but you can't subsidize all the people all the time.

But next year the farmer must again plant too much, else he will have none to plow under.

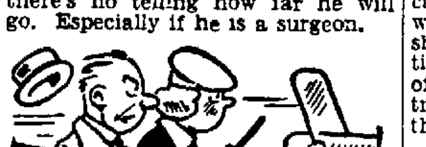

If it's 3.2 wine, the accompaniment should be nice motherly women and a song like "seeing Nellie home."

And there's no way to keep up the price of labor until the stock cuts production.

A Sorrowful Little Bear

Some things important we should know
Are gained through sorrow and through woe.
—Mother Bear.

'Oh, oh, oh! Oh my paw, my paw!" sobbed Betty Bear

"Oh, oh, oh! Oh, my paw, my paw!" sobbed Betty Bear as she sat beneath a big tree in the Green Forest and held her right paw up. It smarted and ached, and she could not put it to the ground, it hurt so. If ever there was a bewildered Bear cub in all the Green Forest, that one was Betty Bear. She had fallen out of that tree under which she was sitting, but that hadn't hurt her in the least, for long ago she had learned how to fall. It was the smart and ache in that little paw and the cause of it that she didn't understand.

Just a few minutes before she had been up in that tree with a peevish stranger just above her, whom she thought to have fun with by driving him to the top of the tree. His tail had come within reach, and she had struck at it. Sharp pains in her paw that had made her let go her hold on the tree, andthe tumble down to the ground had followed instantly, but even yet she didn't understand just what had happened. She had a feeling that that peevish stranger had had something to do with it, but what?

She held her paw up and turned it to look at the bottom. Half a dozen yellowish-white things were sticking in it. Dimly she began to understand that these were the cause of the pain and ache. But where had they come from? Then she remembered that she had noticed things like these in the coat of the peevish stranger up in the tree. Still, that didn't mean anything to her.

She took hold of one with her teeth and tried to pull it out, but it hurt so that she stopped. 'Oh, dear," she sobbed. "Oh, dear. What ever shall I do? I wish Mother would come. She would know what to do. But she won't like it if I am not up in that tree. She will think I have disobeyed. I haven't. I just could not help that fall. I'll climb up to the lowest branch and wait there."

But when she undertook to climb she found she couldn't do it. She couldn't use that aching paw. Two or three times she tried, and then gave up. She sat with her back against the tree and just cried. Yes, sir, that is what she did. She felt too miserable for words. She was frightened as well as hurt. She was frightened because she could not understand at all what had happened.

There Mother Bear found her on her return. At first when she saw Betty Bear on the ground she was angry. But when Betty Bear held up that little paw in such a pitiful way she forgot her anger.

"What are you doing down here?" demanded Mother Bear, pretending to be cross.

"I fell, and I couldn't climb up again," sobbed Betty Bear. "Something is the matter with my paw."

Mother Bear took a good look at it. "Where is that fellow?" she growled.

"What fellow?" asked Betty Bear, in her surprise at the question, forgetting to cry.

"Prickly Porky, the fellow who gave you those," replied Mother Bear.

"I don't know him, but up in this tree is a stranger who wouldn't play with me," said Betty Bear.

"But you tried to play with him?" said Mother Bear, and just for an instant grinned.

"I only struck his tail," replied Betty Bear.

"Well, that was better than having his tail strike you," retorted Mother Bear. "That is Prickly Porky the Porcupine and, had I known he was up in that tree, I wouldn't have sent you up there. He is one of the few people no sensible Bear will ever bother. Those things in your paw came from his tail. It is covered with them, and so is most of his body, and those who are wise leave him alone. It is too bad you didn't know him, but I guess you will next time."

"I know I will," replied Betty Bear.

SYNOPSIS: Georgie Bancroft has had to tell Clifford Asher that she cannot marry him because she loves another man. The other man is Nicholas Boyd, and Nicholas is in Germany trying to have removed the scar that has ruined his career as a film actor. What is worse, he is married. On her way home from the dance where Clifford proposed, Georgie finds a scrap of newspaper with the head line "Movie Star Dies Suddenly." She is horrified, until finally Bishop, her stepfather, finds a paper, and she learns it is not Nicholas. She suddenly realizes Bishop's underlying kindness.

Chapter 35.
THE WRONG BOX.

He was staring straight in front of him, his mouth set in lines of pain; then he said slowly.

"We're both in the wrong box, Georgie, you and I, but we might help each other by being friends, don't you think?"

She did not speak, and he went on.

"When your mother wanted you to come here, I thought it would be a great nuisance. I'm not used to young people about me. Perhaps you will think it odd if I tell you that you've brought the only bit of sunshine I've had in my life for a great many years. We haven't spoken together much, you and I, but," he took his arm away, "I should like to help you if I can."

He waited a moment and then asked, "Who's name was it you were afraid of reading in the paper just now?"

And Georgie told him. "Nicholas Boyd's."

"The husband of—the woman here?" he asked.

"Yes."

"How did you know him, Georgie?" he asked, and suddenly she found herself telling him—pouring out the thing which for so long she had been forced to keep to herself.

"And does he care for you?" Bishop asked when she had ended.

"No.' Georgie gave a little shaky laugh. "I'd give anything in the world if he did," she added in a broken whisper.

There was a little silence.

"And this woman, this Bernie Boyd," Bishop asked.

"I don't think she loves him," Georgie said. "I don't know why, but somehow I don't think she does, or she would be with him now, wouldn't she?"

"A woman like that could not love anyone but herself." Bishop said. He stood up and began roaming restlessly round the room in the way that always made Georgie think of a lion shut up in a cage. He came back to her at length, a tall gaunt figure in his dressing-gown, his hands thrust into the pockets.

"Is your mind set at rest now?" he asked.

"You mean because it wasn't his name in the paper?"

"Yes."

Georgie sighed tragically. "If it had been I think I should have died."

"People do not die so easily," he answered.

Impulsively she stretched a hand to him, laying it on his arm.

"I never knew you could be so kind," she said.

"Kind!" he laughed rather grimly. "I suppose everyone is kind to one person once in a lifetime." he answered, and then, "You won't cry any more if I leave you?"

"I'll try not to."

"Goodnight then."

Georgie stood up. "I need not ask you not to tell—Evelyn," she said timidly.

"No," he said. "I do not betray confidences."

He went away without another word or look at her, and Georgie went on with her undressing.

The following morning Georgie went down to the studio to see Bernie Boyd making a picture.

Evelyn had asked for and received the invitation, and she was inordinately proud of the fact.

"Miss Boyd does not as a rule allow strangers to see her," she told Georgie. "But in my case she has made an exception. So you must behave and keep very quiet so as not to disturb anyone."

Georgie thought she was far more likely to keep quiet than her mother was; Evelyn loved talking and airing her views.

"Bishop is coming with us," her mother said discontentedly. "I don't know why, but he pretends to be interested. Of course it's only pretence; nothing really interests him except making money."

Georgie's lips moved to say something but she closed them again, realizing that it would never do for her to attempt to defend her stepfather.

They drove down in Bishop's big new Rolls.

"How much did it cost?" Georgie asked in curiosity when she first saw it, and she gasped when her mother answered lightly—

"Oh, about ten thousand, I suppose."

It seemed an enormous sum, Georgie thought, surely enough to keep half a dozen Nellys in breakfast and other necessities for the rest of their lives! It was queer how unevenly money was divided, some people had so much they did not know what to do with it, and other people had nothing at all.

She tried to remember what it was in the Bible that Christ had told someone to sell for three hundred pence and give to the poor, and she wondered if Bishop had ever heard about it, and what he would say were it suggested to him that he sell the big car and help people like Nelly.

But Bishop was very generous; out in America she had been told of some huge charitable organization which was entirely financed from his pocket, so perhaps one could not very well complain about the Rolls

Bishop was very quiet as they drove out of London; he sat with his eyes closed, looking more tired and lined than usual, and now and then Georgie glanced at him pityingly.

She wondered why Evelyn always insisted that there was nothing the matter with him! To her inexperienced eyes he looked a very sick man. Queer that with all his money he could not obtain the most desirable thing in the world, health. The most desirable thing after love that is, for Georgie was still young and unsophisticated enough to believe that love came first, always.

The studios were hot and dazzlingly lit, and full of men who all seemed very busy and important, and in a great hurry.

Georgie was introduced to several of them, and they called her "my dear" and one of them told her she had a film face.

Bernie Boyd seemed to be the centre of attraction, and held court like a queen, her face made up in a way which Georgie thought hideous, but which Evelyn explained was necessary for a successful picture. Evelyn liked to think she knew all about the business in hand. She explained various details to Georgie in an entirely incorrect manner, and appeared deeply interested.

"Well, what do you think of it?" Bishop asked Georgie once. He was standing looking on with bored eyes. "Does it fire your ambition to be a star?"

"I don't think so," Georgie said. "I wonder if men have to make up like that too?"

Somehow she could not imagine Nicholas being drilled and ordered about, and made to do the same thing over and over again until it was entirely to the director's satisfaction.

Presently she wandered off to a corner of the studio by herself where a pile of photographs which she knew were called 'stills" lay in an untidy heap. She turned them over curiously—dozens of them were of Bernie Boyd—Bernie in all attitudes, registering delight, fear, sorrow. Yes, she certainly had a very beautiful face, Georgie was bound to admit, more beautiful perhaps when assisted by the skill of a camera man than when left untouched.

Bishop spoke at her elbow again. "It's all right about your friend, the one who needs a job. Miss Boyd is willing to give her a trial.

"Oh, how sweet of you," she said gratefully, but to her surprise Bishop frowned.

"I dislike that expression," he said rather curtly, and then, "Don't begin copying your mother, Georgie."

"I'm sorry,' she smiled helplessly, and then he smiled.

'I told you last night we were both in the wrong box," he said

Bernie came up to them at that moment; she was smiling and apparently very pleased with herself She spoke to Georgie and asked if she were enjoying herself.

"Yes, thank you," Georgie said, and then, "Are you?" she asked.

Bernie laughed "Does anyone enjoy work, I wonder?" she said.

She laid a very much whitened hand on Bishop's coat sleeve.

"So kind of you to come," she murmured in quite a different tone of voice.

HOT WATER IN GOLDFISH BOWL MAY AID IN CURE OF ECZEMA

Dr. Clendening

"Can you cure eczema of the hands by washing in the water from goldfish bowls?"

It sounds fishy, but there may be something in it.

Dr. Clendening

The annual report of the New York aquarium contains the suggestion. Charles M. Breder, Jr., the assistant director of the aquarium, has been investigating for several years the reason water in a balanced aquarium does not always become foul. In certain tanks the water was unchanged for some time and yet remained fresh. In investigating the reason for this, Mr. Breder found that there was a bacteriophage both in the water and in the intestinal contents of the fish, which killed off the bacteria which caused the water to become foul.

We discussed the bacteriophage a few weeks ago. Its discovery was announced by two French bacteriologists, and has been the subject of a great deal of study and investigation. Exactly what the "phage", as it has been nicknamed by scientists, is has not been settled. It is some sort of substance or parasite which develops in cultures of living bacteria, which kills off the bacteria themselves—like an epidemic of plague in a human community. Its practical importance can be seen at once, because it may be used to destroy germs living in the human body.

Reasoning that if this phage which is developed in the fish tanks would kill bacteria there, it would also kill bacteria in human infections, Mr. Breder and his associate, C. W. Coates, began trying out a concentrated solution of the phage from aquarium water on skin infections. Coates, himself, infected the skin of his hands and healed the infection by dipping them in aquarium water. Patients with skin disease were also experimented upon. One man had had sore and scaly hands for 20 years. Immersion in the phage, solution several times a week improved them more than any other form of treatment he had ever used.

The investigators warn against undue optimism. People with goldfish bowls should not set up in business as dermatologists. Even if the phage is present in the water of an aquarium, says an article in a nationally known magazine, it is too weak to be of any value in treatment. Although I do not see that the process of dipping eczematous hands in goldfish bowls will do any harm to anything but the fish.

I remember a story that was told of the San Francisco earthquake, of an old woman who was fleeing from the flames with her most precious possession, a goldfish bowl. Every once in a while she would stop, exhausted, sit on the curbstone and take a long drink out of the bowl. The obvious relief and refreshment which she was reported to have obtained thereby may have been due to the fact that she was killing off her excessive bacteria with the phage.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

LINES FOR A SUMMER COTTAGE.

Lovely lake and lovely vew,
Overhead are skies of blue,
But I think your charm depends
Less on these and more on friends.

Simply built and plain inside,
Naught have you of pomp and pride
High upon a cliff you stand,
Overlookng lake and land.

Creaky bards and modest doors,
Bare the walls and bare the floors;
But with children's laughter gay
Till the summer goes away.

Whence your charm and whence your grace.
Rough and rugged summer place?
Not from lake or sky or trees,
But from happy memories

Here we put all sham away
Here we rest and dream and play.
Here until the summer ends
We are honest with our friends.

FOUR NATION PACT SIGNED

EuropeanPeace Guaranty Ratification Said To Be Assured.

ROME, July 15—(AP)—The four-power European peace pact was signed here today by Premier Mussolini and representatives of France, Germany and Great Britain.

The accord which is designed to guarantee tranquillity among European countries for a period of ten years, facilitates reduction of armaments and leads to improvement in economic conditions, was given official approval in the duce's huge office in the Palazzo Venezia.

No change was made in the text as initialed in the same office June 7.

Besides the head of the Italian government, Ambassador Henry de Jouvenel of France, Ambassador Von Hassel of Germany and Sir Ronald Graham, the British ambassador, all of whom attached their initials to the document early last month, signed it today.

The ratification of the treaty by the four governments is considered assured.

The treaty was signed according to the French alphabetical list which made Germany first, followed by England, France and Italy.

Recovery Moving Forward At Fast Pace Says Ayres

CLEVELAND, July 15— (AP) — Business recovery, Col. Leonard P. Ayres said today, "is going forward at the most rapid rate ever reached in our economic history" and the business man "may confidently expect higher prices for commodities, increasing wage rates and advancing quotations for securities."

Colonel Ayers, economist, outlined his views in the monthly business bulletin of the Cleveland Trust Co., of which he is vice president.

SEWARD NOTES.

(Special to The Star)

SEWARD, Neb., July 15—A large number of bullheads, some weighing three pounds, were removed from Miller and Fintel lakes this week because of the low water level. Since the big rains of the week it is expected the lakes will again hold plenty of water.

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of Miss Margaretha Hansen, daughter of Mrs. Laura Hansen, to Dr. T. J. Hagen, jr., of Boston. Mrs. Hagen was a teacher in the county schools the past two years. She is a graduate of Wayne teachers college. Dr. Hagen received his degree from the University of Nebraska college of dentistry. They will make their home in Boston.

The Seward welfare society is planning work for the hundreds of transients who are panhandlig the town. Slips to the value of five and ten cents have been printed, which Police Chief Rufus Anderson will distribute after the itinerants have done their share of work.

Marriage licenses were issued Wednesday to Joseph Foxworthy, Tecumseh, and Thelma Hampton, Holden, Mo.; Lee Multer, Lincoln and Mae Mumm, Staplehurst, Friday a marriage license was issued to William Von Ovitz of Norfolk and Alta Nelson of Seward.

Hunt for California Girl, 13, Fruitless

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 15—(AP)—Search continued today for Helen Lyons, 13-year-old girl, who was last seen a week ago when she left her father, William Lyons of Sacramento, at Merced to go for lunch with a strange man.

The man had towed Lyons and his daughter into Merced after Lyons' automobile had become disabled.

ROOSEVELT TO STUDY BLANKET ORDER SUNDAY

Johnson Reporting On Possibilities For Labor Spread.

WASHINGTON, July 15 — (AP) — Tomorrow aboard President Roosevelt's yacht somewhere on the Potomac river may be shaped a fateful decision to call upon all American business to raise wages and cut working hours right away.

Hugh S. Johnson, boss of the recovery administration, who for days has been studying this idea for obtaining the quick boost in the purchasing power of the masses, will fly down and report to the president on its possibilities.

The plan would involve having every line of business fro mthe big factory down to the corner store agree willingly and without waiting for adoption of a code of fair competition, the vehicle provided by law to spread employment, boost wages and give industry self regulation.

Johnson admits some concern about the "white collar" man. Agreements among industries to spread work and lift pay are helping the ordinary laborer, he finds, but most of the trade codes do little for the big middle class. He holds that a general increase by all American business would reach this group, and thereby tremendously increase purchasing power.

Voluntary Action Possible.

Meanwhile, there have been signs that the ultimate impulse to put the industrial recovery plan across may come from business itself. In an outwardly spontaneous move a few industries already have asked administration sanction for wage and hour limits without waiting for codes to go into force. There has been no assurance that the movement has spread, but Roosevelt's lieutenants who have been working night and day to stir industry into motion, show hope.

Besides the rayon and silk industries which are asking permission to come under the terms like those of the cotton code which goes into effect on Monday, the cement industry came forward yesterday with a request for presidential approval of a 36-hour week, minimum wage plan.

Many other industries are finishing up codes.

N. U. Physicists Make Successful 2 Mile Narrowcast

Two young physics instructors here transmitted sound by light for two miles Friday night, the longest distance ever attained in the middlewest, they claim.

The phenomenon, known as a narrowcast, was produced from Brace laboratory on the University of Nebraska campus to a point two miles out on North Fourteenth street with a transmitter possessing less power than the average radio set.

The instructors, C. E. Hoekstra and R. H. Severance, were especially pleased with the feat since their transmitter is so weak compared to those used in the east. One of the experiment's purposes is to see how much distance can be attained on the least amount of power.

Sound waves from a radio were sent on a beam from a powerful arc light to the place of reception where the beams were brought to focus on a photoelectric cell, Hoekstra said.

Narrowcasts have been successfully performed for twenty miles in the east, but radio station transmitters have been used. Further experiments will be conducted by the Nebraskans, who completed a narrowcast from the campus to the Terminal building about a month ago.

Raymond Dougherty, Yale Orient Expert, Ends Life By Hanging

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 15—(AP) —Overwork and ill health were blamed today for the suicide of Prof. Raymond P. Dougherty, noted Yale Orientalist, who hanged himself in a blueberry thicket.

The man who spent years studying the mysteries of the ancient east was missing 30 hours before a negro youth, picking berries, found his body swinging from a hickory tree near his residence in Hamden, a suburb.

The discovery ended an intensive search. He left home Thursday, saying he was going for a walk.

Dr. George Joslin, medical examiner said Mrs. Dougherty told him that her husband had been in ill health. He had been on a leave of absence from Yale since April because of a nervous breakdown.

CARTWRIGHT, Labrador, July 15—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh today set about establishing a base for aerial surveys in this vicinity, before continuing their air mapping tour to Greenland.

They set their plane down on the harbor last night after a three-hour flight from Botwood, N. F.

Maj. Robert Logan, commander of the survey expedition who came here with the steamer Jelling with supplies, was among the first to greet them.

Financial Markets Take On Renewed Hope As Wheat Soars; Business News Continues Cheerful

N. Y. Exchange Firm at Close

Many Issues Gain 1 to 3 Points or More; Transfers 2,600,000.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Financial markets took on renewed hope today as wheat prices again soared and business news continued highly cheerful. Stocks, a bit irregular at first, rallied under the leadership of specialties and closed firm with many gains ranging from 1 to 3 or more points. Trading volume was not pronounced, transfers approximating 2,600,000 shares.

Strength of metal, sugar and alcohol stocks caused traders to relax some of their recent caution, although there was no wild rush for equities. Wheat got up about 4 cents a bushel and corn, oats and rye advanced moderately. Cotton was rather soft. Bar silver was firm. The dollar held around its yesterday's rates in foreign exchange markets. Bonds were generally higher.

Homestake Mining jumped about 19 points on limited buying, while Dome Mines, McIntyre Porcupine and Alaska Juneau advanced 2 or more points. Gains of 1 to 6 were recorded by U. S. Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, International Silver and American Smelting. Industrial Rayon and United Aircraft drew a following with advances of 4 or more points and National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, American Commercial Alcohol and Commercial Solvents were up 2 to 4. The rails did little and such issues as American Telephone, Allied Chemical, U. S. Steel, International Harvester, Goodyear and Case were inclined to follow a narrow range.

The freight car loadings report for the week ended July 8, had little effect on carrier shares. The decrease of 94,851 was quite in line with expectations as was the gain of 122,295 over the same week in 1932.

Renewed interest in the gold mining stocks, most of which have been resting quietly in the past several sessions, was attributed largely to a revival of hope that the government, soon or late, will establish some sort of "free gold" market in the United States similar to the one in England or permit the export of gold-bearing rock. While the administration has thus far not revealed its intentions, mining interests hold to the belief that such a market ultimately may become a necessity. Reports from Washington that Attorney General Cummings was studying the export problem were viewed as highly encouraging.

Markets generally seemed to pay little or no attention to the reports from London that the economic conference would recess the latter part of this month o reconvene in he late fall. Some bankers expressed the opinion that the interval could be viewed optimistically because the various conference sub-committees might be able to iron out the monetary wrinkles which have been the principal deterrent to co-operative action.

The report of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the first important company to show operations for the first six months of 1933, showed earnings of $3.54 per share as compared with $4.03 for the corresponding period a year ago. The trend, said the report, was definitely upward in the last couple of months.

July automobile production should total about 230,000 units, according to an estimate by Cram, this would represent an increase of 97 per cent over July, 1932. Production for the past week was estimated at 58,002 units, an increase of 16,000 over the preceding week.

The dollar improved its position slightly in the foreign exchange markets. Sterling opened at $4.77¼, a decrease of half a cent, while French francs stood at 5.60 cents, a loss of .01 of a cent.

Wheat Takes a Skyward Leap

Closing Prices Are 4⅜ to 5⅛c Higher; Corn Advances.

CHICAGO, July 15—(AP)—Wheat rose excitedly today toward the $1.25 a bushel mark. A maximum of 5⅞ cents a bushel was gained in wild trading. The finish was within a cent of the day's top, $1.23¼. The dollar-and-a-quarter mark was aimed at by many speculators as their immediate objective.

Almost the sole influence apparent for the sensational advance and the seldom-equalled volume of dealings was trade forecasts that Canada's wheat production this season would be approximately 30 per cent less than last year. At the day's peak, wheat was at the highest point since February, 1930.

Closing quotations on wheat were 4⅜ to 5⅛ cents above yesterday's finish, July $1.12⅞, September $1.15⅛@⅛c, with corn ⅝ to 1⅜ cents up, July 65c, September 69¼@⅜c; oats showing ¼ to ¾ cent advance, and provisions at a rise of 2 cents to 15 cents.

Wheat jumped more than 2 cents a bushel today the moment trading began. Reports of severe sudden irreparable damage to the Canadian wheat crop were chiefly responsible. Authoritative estimates were that Canada's 1933 yield of wheat would be only 289,000,000 bushels, compared with recent official forecasts of 340,000,000 bushels. Opening ⅜ to 2⅛ cents higher, wheat afterward held within the initial range. Corn started at ⅜ cent off to ⅜ cent up, and then altered little.

Every future delivery of wheat quickly overtopped all recent high price records. Many reached $1.19½ on the day's first transactions, and soon mounted to above $1.20.

The swift vertical rise culminated at $1.23¼, a gain of more than 9 cents a bushel in 24 hours. At $1.23¼ for May, selling for profits broadened out, and the market tumbled temporarily about 3 cents.

Among the factors hoisting wheat values was an official report from Canada admitting that present wheat crop prospects were 36,000,000 bushels smaller than a few days ago. The leading unofficial Canadian crop authority was quoted as saying the prairie provinces must have rain quickly to save the crop from a calamity.

Rye, corn, oats and barley reflected the wild advance of wheat. The corn market and barley both outdid the season's previous highest peak.

Before the whirlwind advance slackened, multitudes of buying orders swept constantly into the pits, which were crowded to overflowing with brokers. Offerings of wheat were relatively scarce until wholesale profit taking set in.

Whizzing rapidly upward to $1.21 wheat responded to excited buying and then in quick succession touched $1.22 and $1.23. At this stage the market was up in some cases about 6 cents a bushel.

Corn was influenced by action of wheat, but not to an equally relative extent. Conflicting marketing influences such as continued large offerings of cash corn to arrive, the unfavorable price relation of corn to hogs and the uncertainty of the crop, with reports showing some improvement in the west and southwest tended to disturb the confidence of corn traders.

About midsession, wheat was 3¾-4⅜c above yesterday's finish and corn was ⅜-⅛c up.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—

Buying of the "wet" shares, gold issues and an assortment of commodity issues gave the curb a higher appearance today, despite considerable profit taking.

Canadian Industrial Alcohol and Hiram Walker moved ahead to the extent of a point or more. Food issues were active and generally strong. New shares of Armour, of Illinois, admitted to trading on the curb, opened at 12¾ on an initial transaction of 2,000 shares, while the stock purchase warrants began their career at 4½ for a block of 500.

Swift & Co. stock continued in demand, while shares of the International Co. again improved. United Molasses, Ltd., was less active, holding in a narrow range. Lake Shore Mines, Pioneer Gold and Newmont Mining ran up gains of 1 to 2. National Sugar jumped 3 and General Tire & Rubber advanced about 3.

Electric Bond & Share, Cooper Bessemer, Standard Oil of Indiana and American Gas fluctuated narrowly, with their trend downward at times.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—

Price movements in the bond market today were orderly and somewhat narrow. The tone was fairly steady throughout the session, and the few substantial gains recorded reflected a special trading interest.

In rails the performance was a standoff. Improvement of fractional extent in some loans was accompanied by moderate losses in other parts of the list, as traders took profits.

Industrials and utilities were also uneven in their fluctuations. Some further buying developed in Armour & Co. 4½s, apparently on theory that the proposal capital readjustment will improve the position of the bonds.

Phillips Petroleum 5s and Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s advanced on small transactions. Bonds of the Rubber companies, which moved up easily during the week, were steady in the face of some realizing.

In the foreign department firmness in prices was the rule, although French 7s were rather weak. Germans were higher and most South American issues retained their recent gains.

The federal list was again featureless with prices about unchanged.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—

COTTON—An opening advance in response to the acreage curtailment announcement was followed by reactions in cotton today.

There was an active demand at the opening from both trade and commission house sources, but it was supplied by realizing, and a disposition to take profits on long cotton was evidently increased by the reports of showers in Texas.

December contracts after selling up to 12.00 at the start, eased off to 11.78 in the late trading and closed at that figure, with the general market closing easy at net declines of 12 to 19 points.

The Bluenose will compete in a free-for-all event aside from the regular race. The prize offered was a 300-pound American cheese.

This year's race has drawn an entry of 27 yachts that will attempt to negotiate the 331 miles of water between Chicago and the island at the head of the lake.

The Bluenose, the Tecumseh and Lyman Dwight's Milwaukee entry, Dorello, were scheduled to get away at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, with the other divisions following at intervals.

Nearly Fifty Of Wealthy Chicagoans Being Guarded Against Kidnaping Threats

Protection Net Spread After Factor Reveals Abductors Had Book of "Prospects" and Boasted of Exploits.

CHICAGO, July 15—(AP)—Nearly half a hundred wealthy Chicago residents today were reported under guard and state troopers and city police were patrolling their homes to prevent their abduction by kidnapers.

The Chicago Tribune said the action was taken by the federal government after John Factor, the speculator, released recently by abductors after paying a $50,000 ransom, told of a book of prospects kept by his kidnapers and their busines-like organization.

Cutten Mentioned

Although a full list of the men being guarded was not revealed by the government agents, the newspaper said the name of Arthur Cutten, grain trader, was included.

Another was John Hertz, sportsman, who said the day and night guard at his home was placed there at the request of the government. Hertz said he did not ask for the guards and had never received threats, but was willing to co-operate.

Still working on the theory that the Touhy gang, was responsible for the Factor kidnaping, the newspaper said authorities were scouring Cook county for five men believed to be associated with the hoodlums.

Six Named.

They are Lawrence Mangano, Carl Fontana, Ernie Rossi, Charles O'Leary and Charles Brown. In addition, the newspaper said, "Two Gun Louie" Alterie was wanted.

The Tribune said the federal agents considered as important Factor's imprisonment in a basement the night of his abduction and his statement that his captors told him "I was the first man to be held in that basement, and that I would not be the last."

Factor said they told him they had a list of the men they were going to take and that every one of them would pay.

"This is our busines," Factor said one of the men told him, "and it is a good one. We have it down to a science and are making good money. The papers never hear of most of our 'snatches' because we impress them (the victims) it isn't healthy to talk."

WOMEN PROTEST DISCRIMINATION IN TRADE CODES

CHICAGO, July 15 — (AP)—Aroused by action of two national printing groups in adopting yesterday a lower minimum wage scale for women than for men in their code to be presented to the administration, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's club, in convention here, today telegraphed a protest to President Roosevelt.

Their telegram read:

"The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's club appreciates your concern for fair industrial conditions for all workers. Reports of proposed regulations to be embodied in industrial codes under the national recovery act make us apprehensive.

"We enlist your interest in seeing that these codes assure equal pay for equal work and equal opportunity for equal ability regardless of sex."

It was signed by Mrs. Geline Mac Donald Bowman of Richmond, Va., national president and the board of directors It was the final act of the 1933 biennial gathering.

BANKRUPT BOOTH FISHERIES BOUGHT FOR $1,171,000

WILMINGTON, Del., July 15—(AP)—Millar Brainard, Boston, acting as chairman of a reorganization committee, today bought the assets and property of the Booth Fisheries company, with hedaquarters in Chicago, for $1,171,000.

The purchase was made at a bankruptcy sale authorized by the United States District court for Delaware, the price representing payment of $821,000 and assumption of $350,000 in liabilities.

Old-Timer Comes Up With Mound Victory

CHICAGO, July 15—(AP)—Another old-timer in the baseball business, Emil Yde, has come up with a well pitched game.

Yde, who served with several major league clubs, and who has done a little umpiring here and there, yesterday held Indianapolis to six hits as St. Paul won the first game of a doubleheader, 5 to 2. The Indians won the second, 14 to 7.

Joe Hauser got his forty-first homer of the season as Minneapolis split a doubleheader with Louisville. Hauser's clout helped win the opener, 8 to 2, but Phil Weinert baffled the Millers in the nightcap, the Colonels winning, 4 to 2.

Kansas City was outhit, 11 to 9, in a night game, but defeated Toledo, 6 to 2. Rain prevented Milwaukee and Columbus from opening their series.

Captain Dies As Refuses to Leave His Burning Ship

Two Others Lost and 34 Members of Crew Rescued.

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Capt. F. L. Sears went down with his burning ship the tanker Cities Service Petrol, in the Atlantic off Wilmington, N. C., last night, while two other American merchant ships stood by and rescued 34 members of the crew.

Two other men went down with Captain Sears. They were reported killed aboard before the ship sank. One was an engine wiper, George Binninnger. The name of the other was not immediately available.

The rescue ships were the tanker Gulf Gem and the steamer Tri-Mountain. The Gulf Gem saved 24 members of the Petrol crew and the Tri-Mountain 10.

Immediately after the Petrol sank, enveloped in flames with Captain Sears alive and at his post, the Gulf Gem turned off her course to put in with the survivors, some of whom were injured, at Charleston, S. C. It was presumed the Tri-Mountain accompanied her.

Wireless reports received by the Radio Marine corporation painted the outlines of the grim sea picture in sketchy details.

The Gulf Gem messaged:

"Burning tanker Cities Service Petrol sank stern first at 11:30 p. m., just after eight men were taken off in heavy sea by boat crew of Gulf Gem.

"Captain refused to leave his burning ship and two other men were killed aboard."

Cooper federal conservator of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company, which has been closed since the nationwide banking holiday.

Joseph W. Harriman, former head of the bank, is under indictment charged with altering the books of the bank and an investigation is under way to determine his mental fitness to stand trial.

of the total. The others were given out Saturday morning, as determined by the state board.

The biggest percentage cut given any road was to the Missouri Pacific, which, on account of its being in receivership and its securities being depreciated more than those of the others, was lowered 28.71 per cent. Its new assessment is $5,459,867, as against $7,659,701 last year, a reduction of $2,199,834.

37 Per Cent Slash for Pullman.

The Pullman Co., on its sleeping car business in Nebraska, gets a bigger proportionate reduction than any of the railroads, since its traffic has fallen off to a greater extent than theirs.

Its assesment is placed by the state board at $572,910, decreased from $914,012 a year ago. At one time the Pullman corporation was taxedin Nebraska onu a gross basis of about a million and a quarter dollars, but its valuations has been going downward several years, the result of shrinkage in business and revenue.

Several factors enter into this year's big cut for the sleeping car company, which is assessed each year on business done during the previous year.

The basic value for standard sleepers was pared from $15,910 to $14,160 each, while for tourist cars the reduction is from $7,560 to $6,728. With fewer cars of both kinds in service, the total value of both kinds is scaled down from $346,702 last year to $252,880 in 1933.

Total track mileage over which cars were operated in the state went down from 2,855 to 2,679.

Randall Approves Reducing Salaries Of Rail Executives

Hearty approval of efforts of Joseph B. Eastman to get salaries of railroad executives lowered was expressed Saturday by Chairman C. A. Randall of the state railway commission.

"These salaries are away out of line," Randall declared. "They should be cut. Lowering a $100,000 a year salary by $10,000 can't be regarded as a reduction."

Randall is acquainted with Eastman, who is federal co-ordinator of transportation, through Eastman's service on the interstate commerce commission. When it appeared doubtful that Eastman would be reappointed to the commission by President Hoover, Randall, a republican, urged Nebraska congressmen and senators to endorse Eastman, who is a democrat.

Banks Keep Money Under Time Lock

Precautions which lessen the possibility of bank robbery were being advised for all banks Saturday by W. B. Hughes of Omaha, secretary of the Nebraska Bankers association, in announcing new provisions under burglary insurance. Lincoln banks have been practicing the suggested measures for some time. Two of the banks keep 85 per cent of their currency under time lock during hours when they are open to the public. The third bank also conducts its business so that there is never a large amount of currency on hand and has this under a combination lock.

TRUCK CRASH KILLS TWO.

KALISPEL, Mont., July 15—(AP)—When the driver of a truck fell asleep, two Flathead Indians were killed and three others injured as the vehicle crashed off the highway near here yesterday.

All were enroute to Logan pass to take part in the Going-to-the-Sun highway dedication today.

The driver, Leslie Ryan, told a coroner's jury he had been driving for many hours and found it difficult to keep awake at the wheel. He was exonerated.

Michel Kever and Louis Kulloyah were killed.

FAIL TO AGREE WATER DIVISION

Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska Are Still Far Apart.

DENVER, July 15—(AP)—A difference of 150,000 acre feet divided conferees from Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming as they started the second day of deliberations in an attempt to reach an agreement on division of the waters of the North Platte river today.

The North Platte, which rises in the North park country of Colorado and snakes its way through Wyoming and then into Nebraska, is the life blood of irrigators of the three states.

Colorado wants to divert 180,000 acre feet of the stream to the Cache La Poudre, in trans-mountain project. Wyoming is standing firm by its position for diversion by Colorado of not more than 30,000 acre feet. Nebraska is ready for any proposal so long as the prior rights of irrigators in that state are protected.

Two representatives of each state were named to a sub-committee to thresh out the differences on the diversion problems, after U. S. Senator Robert D. Carey, of Wyoming told the parley "the people of the west are always whipping themselves because thy can't agree among themselves."

Members of the sub-committee are: Colorado—M. C. Hinderlider, state engineer; Paul P. Prosser, attorney general, and State Senator Nate C. Warren of Fort Collins; Nebraska— Paul Good, attorney general; Roy Cochran, engineer, and R. H. Willis, irrigation director; Wyoming—James B. True, state highway engineer; W. F. Wilkerson, Casper, and James A. Greenwood, former attorney general.

The sub-committee was given an hour to report. At the end of more than an hour and a half the committee reported "in its opinion there was no chance for agreement," with certain exceptions.

Beer Licenses Are Limited To One For Any One Applicant

The owner of a number of stores will be able to obtain a license to sell beer in only one of them, Assistant Attorney General Paul Chaney ruled Saturday.

Chaney said the beer law clearly states that only one license can be obtained by a person. This will prevent owners of chain stores from selling beer in more than one establishment. Wholesale companies also will be able to get but one license and so cannot sell beer from their branch houses.

If actual leases are given by the owners of these chain companies to the managers of individual units, these managers may then take out the licenses. This is the method expected to be followed by companies which desire to handle beer in various establishments.

Chamber of Commerce Asks City Directory Printed In Lincoln

In a letter to the R. L. Polk Co., Detroit publishers of the city directory, W. S. Whitten, secretary of the chamber of commerce, Saturday asked that the 1933 directory be published in Lincoln, as a step toward the relieving of unemployment here. "That Lincoln printers are able to handle the directory, is not doubted," he declared.

This is the second time Mr. Whitten has asked that the directory be printed here. In November 1932, when he asked that the book be printed here, part of the printing had already been completed. The publishers, however, expressed a willingness to co-operate with the chamber in the future.

The effort of the chamber to have the directory printed here, is but one of the many things the chamber has done in the interest of Lincoln's unemployed, Mr. Whitten said.

SWEDEN ACCEPTS OFFER.

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—Sweden made a favorable reply today to the American invitation to negotiate for a trade agreement with the United States. The charge of the legation, Baron Johan Beck-Fris, notified Acting Secretary of State William Phillips. Preliminary conversations will be held in Washington.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

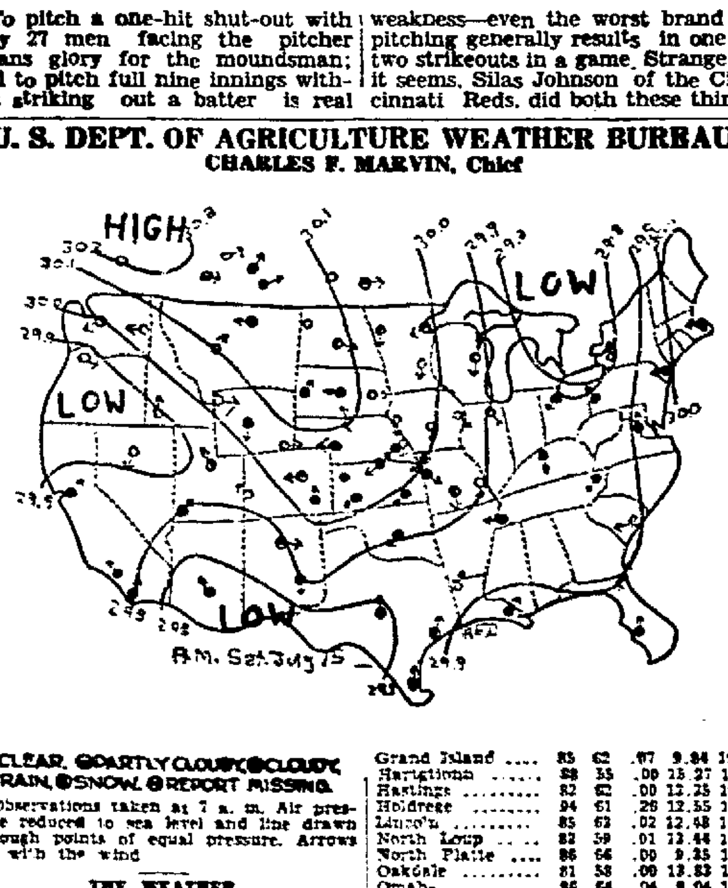

To pitch a one-hit shut-out with only 27 men facing the pitcher means glory for the moundsman; and to pitch full nine innings without striking out a batter is real weakness—even the worst brand of pitching generally results in one or two strikeouts in a game. Strange as it seems, Silas Johnson of the Cincinnati Reds, did both these things during the same game against the Boston Braves on May 4. Except for a single by Berger in the second inning, Johnson was not hit during the entire game.

It was a case of team's victory, rather than the pitcher's for all the outs were made at first or in the field. Johnson not only failed to fan any opposing player, but neither did he walk any. Berger was tagged out when he attempted to steal second. Without his single the game would have been one of the very few perfect games in big league history—no hits, no runs, no man reaching first.

Former Pen Inmate Receives $400 For Loss of Two Fingers

John A. Nelson, former Nebraska penitentiary inmate received a warrant Saturday morning from State Auditor Price for $400 which the last legislature appropriated to compensate him for the loss of two fingers in a machine accident while working at the institution several years ago.

Before getting his money, Nelson had to be personally identified at the state auditor's office. This was done by Deputy Warden Dan Kavanaugh of the prison.

The money was ready for payment last May, soon after the legislature adjourned, but Price did not know at that time where Nelson was. He learned recently that the latter has been staying in a Salvation army home at Fort Dodge, Ia. A voucher was mailed to him there for him to sign and return, but he came to Liincoln instead and filed it in person.

Britain Meets America In Next Cup Compet

Austin Too Good For McGrath; Defeat Puts Anzacs Out of Running

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 15—(AP)—Great Britain qualified today to meet the United States in the inter-zone Davis cup final round at Paris next week as Henry W. (Bunny) Austin defeated Vivian McGrath of Australia, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3, in the deciding singles match of the European zone final play.

Americans Next Opponents.

Great Britain divided the singles of the opening day as Perry beat McGrath after Crawford had trounced Austin, and took a two to one lead yesterday when her doubles pair, Perry and George Patrick Hughes, beat the young Anzacs, Adrian Quist and Don Turnbull.

The victory put Great Britain in the closing rounds again for the first time since 1931, when France turned her back in the challenge round.

The winner of the inter-zone final at Auteuil in Paris next week-end meets France for the trophy in the challenge round the following week-end.

Austin's sweeping straight-set victory gave Great Britain the necessary three matches in the five-match series and left the closing engagement of the day, the final singles encounter between Jack Crawford, Australia's new Wimbledon king, and Fred Perry, British ace, without possible bearing on the final result.

Lee Loses to Crawford.

With the necessary three winning matches nicely tucked away and nothing depending on the final singles, Great Britain substituted H. G. N. Lee, veteran Davis cup player, for Perry against the Australian ace, Crawford, the latter winning, 8-6, 7-5, 6-4.

Perry sprained his shoulder slightly in the doubles victory yesterday and he will rest until he leaves Tuesday for Paris and practice for the inter-zone final, starting Friday. Austin will leave tomorrow to get in as much practice as possible before facing the Americans.

THAT 3.2 FLUID HAS ITS PROBLEM

Magnates Suspicious of Players' Association With Lager.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, July 15—(INS)—Don't be surprised if major league baseball, in dealing hereafter with the sterling young men of the profession, becomes a little inquisitive about just how and where they spend their evenings, it being acknowledged by authorities everywhere that, when a ball player spends anything, its almost certain to be the evening.

It also is possible that, in addition to how and where, baseball will want to know just when and under what circumstances a condition of rigidity sets in with the athlete or, to be more eplicit, how many hours he gets to the 3.2 gallon.

Baseball, in other words, has suddenly become aware that a new problem confronts it. It is beginning to be overtaken by what the clubhouse knows as an epidemic of "beer legs."

That Stupid Stare.

When an athlete has beer legs, he is sodden and sluggish. He does not flit from spot to spot in the dashing and lighthearted way for which his employers were paying him at so much per dash Instead, he stares stupidly and with great care at nothing at all, arousing himself only at some critical moment, to ask not only what inning it is but what day and, if so, what happened to Tuesday and Wednesday.

I do not profess to know how general this condition may be, having heard some desultory gossip only about one club, the Brooklyn Dodgers. Strangely, this outfit is managed by Max Carey, a former divinity student who, however, recovered finally and led a life of merit and usefulness.

Managed, Not Controlled.

'I said managed, but am unable to say controlled, nobody yet having devised a way to control these most impulsive young men.

Still, there seems to be some ground for suspecting that the condition is far from local and that baseball's rejoinder is liable to be an application of the John McGraw technique. This features marked simplicity. To John, it was all very direct and straightforward. Every man was drunk until he proved himself sober.

BRITISHER VICTOR WELSH TOURNEY

PORTHCAWL, Glamorganshire, Wales, July 15—(INS)—Finishing the final round with a steady 75, John Burton, an Englishman, yesterday won the 72-hole Royal Porthcawl club's professional golf championship with an aggregate score of 292.

Steadying in the afternoon 18, after a somewhat erratic morning round, when he carded a 79 Burton overcame the one stroke 54-hole lead held by his countryman, R. A. Whitcombe.

Whitcombe took second honors with a card of 294, the result of his 78 during the afternoon.

Ed. Dudley, the first of the Americans to finish, turned in a 73 for a total of 302.

TENNIS ADDICTS ON THEIR TOES

Racquet Followers Look To Semi-Finals For Hot Contests.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

Capital City tennis fans were on their toes Saturday in anticipation of two sizzling racquet ehibitions of semi-finals.

The card opened with Paul Mahood, defending city champion and many time state titleholder, meeting Wilbur Haegen, ranking player on the University of Nebraska tennis team. The second match brought together George Dobson, Telephone champion, and Sig North, former city junior champion. Dobson and North also are partners of the 1932 city doubles championship team.

Mahood and Dobson romped into the semi-finals Friday by winning straight-set victories. Mahood beat Gregg McBride, 6-4, 6-1, and Dobson upset Art Hoag, former state junior champion, 6-4, 7-5. North and Haegen advanced to the semi-finals Thursday, the former downing Wilfred Kruse, city champion in 1931, and the latter beating Milton Transchel, state junior and prep titleholder.

Dobson Puts On Pressure.

The Dobson-Hoag match was the best of the Friday program. Hoag elected to match drives with Dobson and in this department of the game the latter had much the better of the argument. George was putting plenty of spin on his shots and they continually passed Hoag at the net or found the corners to force the former junior champion on the defensive. Dobson's service also was working to perfection and he connected with several aces at important moments.

Hoag's best stand came late in the second set, when, with Dobson leading 5-4, he suddenly started covering the court in spectacular fashion to cross off two match-points and finally send the set into deuce games. It was a final gesture, however, as Dobson applied the pressure and won the next two games in short order

The final match of the singles tourney is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 on the Lincoln Tennis courts on South street.

PARKER FAVORED TO BEAT SHIELDS

SPRING LAKE, N. J., July 15—(AP)—For the first time in their careers on the courts, Lanky Frank X. Shields of New York and 17-year-old Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, new national clay courts champion, were to meet today in the singles final of the Spring Lake challenge trophy tournament. The sensational Parker was favored to capture the trophy.

The two also prepared to play in the semi-finals of the doubles division today. Parker had Herbert L. Bowman of New York as a partner and Shields was teamed with Dr. Eugene McCauliff of Yonkers, N. Y.

In the other doubles semi-finals, Berkley Bell of Austin, Tex., and J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange opposed Lorenzo Nodarse and Arturo Randin of the Cuban Davis cup forces.

WILSON PUT OUT IN SEMI-FINALS

Lincoln Champ Loses To Omaha's Public Links Title-holder.

OMAHA, Neb., July 15—Once again the annual Nebraska state golf championship tournament presents an all-Omaha final. Omaha's monopoly of the championship, which has extended since the start of titular play, was assured yesterday when Matt Zadalis, Omaha public links ace, won an uphill battle from H. R. "Monk" Wilson, Lincoln city champion. The match carried to the fortieth green, Zadalis winning after trailing or being all square with Wilson after the sixth hole of the afternoon round.

Zadalis today faced Rodney Bliss, jr., the defending champion. Bliss romped away from Otto Reiter, another public links golfer, in the other Friday semi-finals by the decisive margin of 10 to 9.

In the feature match of the day, Wilson outshot Zadalis during the morning round and came from behind to lead one up at the end of nine and go to lunch three up on his opponent.

Wilson Once Four Up.

Monk stretched this margin to four holes early in the afternoon play, but Zadalis finally squared the match on No. 25. Matt Zadalis three-putted No. 26 and Wilson took the customary two putts to go one up. Zadalis again was guilty of faulty work on the green as Wilson took No. 30. The Lincoln champion, however, was wild with his approach on No. 31 and he failed to negotiate Zadalis' stymie on No. 32 and the match was all square.

Wilson came up with a birdie to take the lead on No. 34, when his approach hit the pin and dropped within a yard of the cup. Both blew up on No. 35, Wilson being lost in the woods to go two over par for a 7, while Zadalis squared the match by wobbling in with a buzzard 6

Zadalis had a chance to win the match on the home green but he took three putts and was forced to take a half. After they had played No 37 in par fashion, Wilson muffed an opportunity to win on No 38 when he took three putts after first reaching the green. On 39, both run-ups were shot and they shared 5s

The deciding hole went to Zadalis with a birdie 4. Matt's drive landed on the fourteenth fairway, while Wilson landed on the side of a tree. Monk's out was short and in the rough, while his third was 20 yards from the green. Matt was on in 3 and canned a 25-footer for a birdie and win. Wilson half-topped his fourth but it ran 10 feet from the flag. The match cards:

Fast Mile Foreseen On Eastern Cinders

PRINCETON, N. J., July 15—(INS)—Two mighty track stars faced ecah other here today in the "Mile of a Century" as the combined Oxford-Cambridge and Princeton-Cornell track teams met in an international battle at Palmer stadium. They were Jack Lovelock of Oxford, British record-holdre, and Bill Bonthron, Princeton, undefeated middle distance runner and intercollegiate 800 and 1,500-meter champion.

The experts figured the Princeton ace would meet one of the greatest tests of his career this afternoon in the Britisher, who last week in the meet between the British and Harvard-Yale team stepped the mile in four minutes, 12 6 seconds. His British record is 4:12. Bonthron won the I. C. 4-A 1,500-meters in 3:54, comparable to a 4:13 mile, and the 800 in 1.53.5. A 4.10 mile was foreseen as a possibility when the two stars meet today.

SWATS SAFELY IN STRING 50 GAMES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15—(INS)—Joe De Maggio, 18, outfielder for the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league baseball team, yesterday shattered a league record that had stood for 18 years when he hit safely in his fiftieth consecutive game.

In 1915, Jack Ness, who was Oakland's first baseman, hit in 49 consecutive games before being halted by Art Fromme of Vernon.

De Maggio established his record in the first inning, when he rapped out a sharp single over second base off the pitching of "Buck" Newson of the Los Angeles team. Los Angeles won the game, 7 to 6.

Dempsey Tunes Ear For Wedding Bells

SALT LAKE CITY, July 15—(AP)—Miss Hannah Williams, Musical comedy star and fiancee of Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, arrived here last night by automobile from Reno, Nevada. Miss Williams said she might accept a motion picture contract.

Dempsey and his fiancee plan to spend a few days at the summer home of his mother, Mrs. Cecelia Dempsey. Dempsey said the date for the wedding had not been set.

From Sacramento, Calif., Mrs. Ancil Hoffman, wife of the manager of Max Baer. Dempsey's protege, said the wedding might be in the California capital next week.

Elias Funk, new outfielder of the San Francisco Seals, set a Pacific Coast league baseball record for the season for outfield putouts in his first game on the home lot when he caught 10 fly balls in centerfield.

ACE PLANS FLING AT MOTION FILMS

Wildcat's Nose Altered By Specialist On West Coast.

LOS ANGELES, July 14—(AP)—Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat" middleweight prize fighter, had his nose straightened and remodeled today.

Dr. W. E Balsinger, who performed the operation, said Hudkins had had difficulty in breathing and also was looking toward possible work in motion pictures

"It was an operation similar to those I performed on Jack Dempsey, Jack Kearns and others, in which a piece of cartilege was removed from back of one ear and grafted on the nose to build it up," Dr Balsinger said

Field 18 Horses In Lake City Race

CHICAGO, July 15—(AP)— Some good three-year-old had a chance today to prove a claim to the 1933 championship of the division, and take away the victor's share of a $45,000 purse, in the fifth renewal of the Arlington Classic.

A field of 18, good and indifferent, was named for the mile and a quarter, and every thoroughbred with any kind of a claim to championship honors was included. A victory for one of the ranking stars meant a stronger claim. Triumph for an outsider would serve to scramble the situation a little more.

Mr. Khayyam, winner of the American derby, and Gold Basis, which won the Latonia derby two weeks ago, were the co-favorites at 4 to 1. Arrayed against them were Head Play, War Glory and The Darb.

Gold Basis, owned by Morton L. Schwartz of New York, and trained by Max Hirsch, who saddled Gusto, winner of the 1932 Classic and its big purse, has worked sensationally. Sarada, F. A. Griffith's Kentucky derby hope, which developed a cough and could not start in the Bluegrass feature, apparently has returned to form.

The race was considered so wide open that the top price quoted against any horse was 30 to 1—that against Kerry Patch, victor in the Belmont Futurity last fall.

'There, Little Girl, Don't Cry;' Rassler Will Seek Divorce

LOS ANGELES, July 15—(AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestler, and his movie actress wife have agreed that they should be divorced. He will establish a residence in Nevada.

The agreement was reached last night in a hospital where Sonnenberg is recovering from injuries received in a match. His wife, the former Marie Eliot of eastern society, who is known in screen work as Judith Allen and Mari Colman, sat beside him as the former Dartmouth football player said:

"I hate to lose this little girl, but, like she says, we just can't make a go of marriage with me 'working' all around the country. She's been my whole life."

Miss Allen bade her husband a hearty goodbye and returned to her Hollywood apartment to find a sneak thief had entered, ransacked the place and appropriated a small amount of cash.

LINKS' DEFENSE FALLS TO PIECES

Errors Make Elkhorns Present of Friday Night Game.

Duplicating the performance of the series opener, Norfolk won the second straight game from Lincoln at Landis Field Friday night by coming from behind with two runs in each of the last two innings to take the long end of a 7-4 tally. As in the first game, Lincoln's defense cracked wide open and this, along with two Norfolk hits, accounted for the scores.

Two new faces were in the Lincoln lineup, Neely and Doerr making their Nebraska league debut against the Elks. Both came from Omaha of the Western league, with Neely, a pitcher, pastiming at third to give Gutteridge a rest and Doerr doing the receiving Gutteridge is ailing with a touch of tonsilitis. Frank Finck, galloping centerfielder, was given his release, as was Johnny Homan, catcher, the latter hooking up with Norfolk and working six innings behind the bat.

Owens Poles Homer.

A three-run Norfolk splurge in the fourth wiped out Lincoln's early lead, but the Hruska clan tied it up in the fifth on Owens' double, a fielder's choice and singles by Neely, Doerr and Anderson Owens' mighty homer to the centerfield wall in the sixth put the Links ahead, again, but Norfolk in the eighth went in front to stay.

Each team collected nine blows, but five Lincoln boots aided materially in the Elkhorn scoring Five of the seven Norfolk tallies were aided at some stage by Lincoln misplays

The two clubs wind up the series Saturday night at the hour of nine, with ladies admitted gratis at the gate Either Tom Railsback or Al "Carnera" Harnisko will chuck for the Links, while Elston or Gavan will work for Norfolk. Score

Lake City Club Slaps Coat of Calcimine On Leaders in Flag Chase

By COPELAND C. BURG.

NEW YORK, July 15—(INS)—Punch-drunk and staggering from the brutal beatings given them by the Chicago White Sox, the stymied Washington Senators today turned their backs to the wall to fight for the leadership in the American league. Cracking under the strain of recently winning 5 out of 16 games and apparently suffering from mid-summer staleness, the Nationals flopped like a flipped pancake before the Chicagoans again yesterday, Walter Miller, veteran left-hander, turning them back with three measly singles. The 4 to 0 defeat put the Senators into a virtual tie for first place with the rejuvenated New York Yankees.

Yanks Pound Browns' Pitchers.

Washington's slump may continue for a few days, but the Yankees can't keep on winning the rest of the summer and it may be the Washington-New York series in Washington on July 27, 28, 29 and 30 and the Senators-Yanks tilts here August 7, 8 and 9 will be the deciding factors in the heart-tugging battle.

The Yanks went wild and clubbed St. Louis pitchers for 12 hits, including homers by Chapman and Dickey, to grab it, 11 to 6. It was the fourth straight win for the New Yorkers over the Missourians and the Yanks' seventh triumph in a row.

Hits rattled like skeletons in Hollywood closets as the New York Giants downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 12 to 7, and lengthened their lead in the National circuit. Dizzy Dean for St. Louis and Freddy Fitzsimmons, the Giant, couldn't stand the gaff and their successors did little better, with the Giants garnering 15 hits and the Cards 16.

Dodgers Finally Bump Cubs.

For the first time since July 16, 1932, the Dodgers won a game from the Chicago Cubs in Chicago, the Bruins handing them the tilt with costly errors, 5 to 3. Four of Brooklyn's runs were unearned and they were outhit, 12 to 8.

Rabbit Maranville singled in the tenth to drive in a pinch-hitter, Gyselman, to triumph the Boston Braves over Pittsburgh, 4 to 3.

Bing Miller's home run in the eighth inning, with two men on, accounted for the Athletics' 3-2 whipping of Cleveland. Dick Oliver, the A's sand-lot hurler, who walked five, was the winner over Wes Ferrell.

Moore gave Cincinnati only five hits in blanking the Reds, 6 to 0.

Detroit won from Boston's Red Sox, 8 to 3 Tommy Bridges allowed the Bostonians seven safeties.

Yesterday's STARS

Ervin Fox, Tigers—Knocked in four runs against Red Sox with triple and two singles.

Austin Moore, Phillies—Shot out Reds with five hits.

Lou Gehrig, Yankees—Touched St. Louis pitching for triple, double and single.

Rabbit Maranville, Braves—Drove in winning run against Pirates with single in tenth.

Walter Miller, White Sox—Limited Senators to three singles.

Bill Terry, Giants—Led attack on Cardinals with two doubles and single.

Bing Miller, Athletics—Clouted homer with two on base to beat Indians.

WEYANT AWAITS WIRE FROM TIGER

National Guard Promoter Plans to Match Pesek Against Zbyszko.

Lieut. Weyant, matchmaker for the National Guard, is anxiously watching the wires for a response to his messages to John Pesek, Nebraska tigerman, urging the latter to affirm the Guard's offer to match Pesek against Young Karl Zybszko, New York heavyweight, who so unceremoniously dumped Adam Krieger in a recent mat bout as to dislocate the Lincoln grappler's collarbone and put him on the shelf for a four weeks' vacation.

Unable to execute any bone-crushing on his own account, Adam said today he had offered his services to Weyant in arranging a series of bouts for a National Guard show on June 24, with a Pesek-Zibby tussle as the proposed main event.

Adam Strong for Pesek.

Krieger makes no concealment of his belief that Pesek is the only legitimate champion of the heavyweights and, while he won't admit it, Adam scarcely could disprove the charge that he is anxious to see Pesek do some of the business to Young Zybszko which he, Adam, attempted but failed.

"If Pesek can't flop Zbzyszko," Krieger said today, "nobody else can. My guess is he can. But it should be a fine bout, as Zibby is good, and I ought to know."

Spaulding Retained On Five-Year Basis

LOS ANGELES, July 15—(INS)—W. H. "Bill" Spaulding, football coach at the University of California at Los Angeles, today had a new five-year contract which he signed.

His last year's team was the most successful in the history of the institution, finishing close to the top in the Pacific Coast conference. Since coaching here, his elevens have scored victories over Stanford, Oregon, Florida, St. Mary's and other important schools.

VITT BOBS UP AS POSSBLE PILOT

Manager In Coast League In Line to Land As Tigers' Leader.

HOLLYWOOD July 15—(INS)—That Oscar Vitt, manager of the Hollywood Sheiks, is receiving strong consideration for the job of managing the Detroit Tigers is a persistent rumor gaining ground daily, as new facts and circumstances add apparent confirmation

Word brought out from the eastern sectors by major league scouts has it that "Bucky" Harris' number is up with Frank Navin, the Detroit owner, and that this is due to be his last season with the club. Vitt spent 13 years in the American league, most of this service with Detroit, and still is remembered there well and favorably by customers and owners alike.

H. W Lane, Vitt's present employer in the Pacific Coast league, always has said that he would never stand in Oscar's way if ever he was offered an opportunity to manage a major league club, so there would be nothing but best wishes from this sector if the proposition should be made.

Killifer to Boston Sox?

NEW YORK, July 15—(INS)—Bill Killifer, manager of the St. Louis Browns, will manage the Boston Red Sox in 1934, replacing Marty McManus, it was reported here today. Formal announcement of Killifer's signing was awaited from Boston.

Before leaving here for Washington with the St. Louis club, Killifer admitted he would not return to the Brownies next season. He declined to confirm the report he would go to Boston.

Foxx Steps Ahead of Rivals In Drive For Batting Leadership

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—The continued steady hitting of Jimmie Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics overshadowed the batting performances of other leaders in the major leagues during the week. Foxx pounded out 12 hits in 32 times at bat to boost his average six points to .374 after yesterday's games and gain clear title to the American league lead.

"Big Al" Drops Behind.

Al Simmons rapped out 13 hits, but required 37 times at bat to get them and dropped two points to .366, while Joe Cronin suffered an equal loss and remained a point behind him.

In the National league, Chuck Klein had "just a breeze" to hold the top place as his two Philadelphia teammates, Spud Davis and Chick Fullis, failed to hold the pace he set. Klein lost a little ground, his average going down three points as he hit safely 10 times in 30 tries, but Davis suffered a 13-point loss.

After yesterday's games, Klein had an 11-point lead, with 366 to Davis's 355. Fullis who lost eight points, as he made eight hits in 31 attempts, was third at 343. The 10 leading batters in each major league follow:
